FORTY-FIRST ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT DEPARTMENT OF INDIANA GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC

UNOFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

The Forty-first Annual Encampment of the Department of Indiana Grand Army of the Republic, met at Bloomington, May 25, 26 and 27, 1920. A public reception was held in the First Methodist Church at 8:00 P. M., on Tuesday, May 25th, presided over by Hon. W. W. Weaver, Mayor of Bloomington.

The reception opened with music by the Knightstown Orphans' Home Band, and the singing of "America" by the assemblage, after which Judge J. B. Wilson was introduced by the chairman, and spoke as follows:

Judge J. B. Wilson:

Mr. Chairman, Department Commander, citizens of Bloomington: Once and for all these survivors of the great struggle of 1861 convene in our midst. Soldiers, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Woman's Relief Corps, and all auxiliary organizations, I bring you in the name of the City of Bloomington, greetings. Welcome, welcome to our city. More welcome to our homes. All our homes stand open for you. Now that you are here, the heart's right hand we give you. And why?

Let us for a few moments tonight turn back for a period of fifty or sixty years and review the scene. Two or three million young men and boys, two millions of them under twenty-one years of age, girded for war, sworn to defend the Flag of the Union. Their lives pledged to make good that oath; marching to the drums; looking up to the Stars and Stripes, each boy's soul flooded with the sentiment of that song, "The Old Flag Shall Never Touch the Ground." (Applause) Where are those boys tonight? Call the roll. Who climbed the long, rugged sides of Mission Ridge; who buried their dead upon the fields of Chickamagua; who marched through the fierce flame and fire and turned the tide at Gettysburg; who followed General Sherman to the sea; who stood with Grant at Appomattox. Where are those boys now? Call the roll. But few can answer "Here". Millions answer not. They would save the flag at any cost. And suppose they had not. When the democracy of the world was attacked it would have found the people of these United States, forty-eight different countries, warring over boundary lines, absolutely useless in the great struggle for the democracy of the world. But it was not so. We were found one country, under one The same blood that carried that flag to victory for the Union in 1865, the sons and grandsons of the soldiers of '65, carrying that same flag upon foreign soil to a victory for all the world. Not for gan; not to seek new territory; not in any spirit of conquest; not for wealth; not for the spoils of war-simply for the cause for which they had always fought-the cause of humanity.

Strange as it may seem, when our boys arrived, the warring countries, keeping at all times trained troops, thought it impossible to equip and prepare any army in such a short time. Our boys knew what their fathers did, and their grandfathers. They knew there was nothing in that lifetime training. They went to the battlefield and they left a monument to America.

The American soldier is the best fighter the world has ever produced and there is a reason for it. He never fights except for the betterment of You know how anxious our boys were to fight. They could humanity. hardly hold them back at all when the commander was told that he might advance.

Their commander was brought onto the green carpet. "Why did you not stop them?" he was asked. "How in the world did you expect me to stop them when the whole German division could not stop them," he replied.

You know they picked up one of our drummer boys. They thought he was not trained. They said to him "Beat the reveille." With all the technique and precision of a trained drummer he executed the order. "Now beat a march." And a march rolled on his drum with fervor and enthusiasm. "Now beat a retreat" he was told. He said "Boys, you've got me now. I never heard of that."

I did not come here to tell you soldiers about the war. I must not keep you; but somehow or other when I see the source through which this great government is possible and recognize that it was saved by the soldiers; when I get among them I just can't keep from talking if it was to save my life.

One of the greatest blessings of the world is this furtherance of the idea of the brotherhood of man. It is the greatest thing in the betterment of the condition of the world. The Grand Army of the Republic as it exists today is proof of that proposition. For years banded together in a common cause, it has made of soldiers a great general brotherhood. Two members of this order meet upon the street. Each sees the bronze button on the other's coat. In a short time they are friends, and they go off together just as though they had always known each other.

It is you visitors I am interested in. I will never get to talk to you again. I am going to give you this little story. It is a story of a soldier who was brought before a court of justice on a charge of public intoxication.

(Judge Wilson here recited verses giving the pathetic story of a soldier who had saved the life of a comrade at the battle of Spottsylvania and was afterward brought before that comrade on a charge of drunkenness.)

After the recitation was concluded he presented a large key—thé key to the City of Bloomington—to the Department Commander, who was greeted with applause.

Department Commander William F. Medsker.

Mr. Chairman, citizens of Bloomington: I believe that I might say myself that I feel you are glad to see me from the reception you gave me a few moments ago. But you are no gladder to see me than I am to see you. After the eloquent and masterly address of welcome to which we have just listened we can come to no other conclusion than that we are doubly welcome.

I am truly glad that Bloomingtin is doing what she is. We are glad we are here. What's the matter with Bloomington, I'd like to know? Nothing, of course. What's the matter with Bloomington being called the Athens of Indiana? Why don't you take the name? Crawfordsville has been claiming that title. I think you folks ought to claim that Bloomingtin is the Athens of Indiana. I am going to make a proposition to you tonight, my friends, that this city be called the Athens of Indiana from this time forward.

Mr. Chairman, I am going to say to you that the Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic represented by me this evening, accepts your gracious welcome. We feel that it is the genuine article. We accept in the same spirit in which it is tendered. We want to do the fair thing by you, you are doing so handsomely by us. We think that the Grand Army of the Republic is the greatest thing of the kind on the face of the earth. No honor is too great for us. We beg for no honor only what is justly due us.

is too great for us. We beg for no honor only what is justly due us.

Permit me to make just a little suggestion. We think we are just a little bit the best people on the face of the earth. How does it strike you if I say that we do you an honor by coming to Bloomington? We feel that it is a mutual affair. We feel that you have done us an honor to entertain us we feel on the other hand that we are doing a greater thing by you to come to your beautiful city. Under these two heads let us say that honors are about even

I am a little bit proud of the fact that I am a Hoosier. When anybody asks you just tell them "I am from Indiana." I am proud of the history of my native state. I am proud of that state. I am proud of that of the State of Indiana in the Civil War. I feel that too much honor can not be given to the citizens of Indiana. Do you know that Indiana, with a population of 900,000 sent to the Union army more volunteers than were taken from Indiana with three times the population in the late World War? Don't you think that is a great big feather in the cap of Indiana? Is it any wonder we are proud of Indiana? We are proud of Indiana and any person born in Indiana ought to be proud of the name of Hoosier. I feel that no honor can be rendered to any soldier that is greater than he deserves. Every soldier of the Civil War should be a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. I am at a loss, Comrades, to know why any man who has served in the Union Army should not be a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. The man who has a right to wear that little bronze button has gained that right, that badge of honor, how? By doing his whole duty, and nothing but his duty.

I stand here my friends to say to you that every man owes to his country his life, if it is demanded. If anything is worth having it is worth fighting for, and if it is worth fighting for it is worth dying for. Every man who went into the Union Army did his duty but nothing more than his duty. You owe your life to your country if it is demanded. You offered it in a spirit that has gained the honor of the world. You are the men who made that period glorious and you are honored by the people of Bloomington and the State of Indiana for what you have done. I state I am proud that I am a Hoosier and I am proud that I am a Grand Army man. The Grand Army has stood for justice to the Union soldier and a great pension system has developed from the workings of the Grand Army of the Republic. My great, my generous, my rich country is giving me a pension of $50.00 a month in my decling years. That is an honor to you gentleman who are citizens of Indiana.

I want to call your attention just one moment to one reason why you should be proud of being a Hoosier. Look over at Knightstown. The Home for Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans stands today at Knightstown as a monument to the goodness of the people of Indiana and every bit of that comes through the efforts of the Grand Army of the Republic. That is where we stand. That home, backed up and protected in every way in our power was first established by the Grand Army men of Indiana. The Soldiers' Home at Lafayette is a magnificient affair that every soldier and citizen of Indiana can be proud of. I observe a number of comrades from that Home in this audience tonight. Everything that can be done for you has been done, it seems to me. I need not tell you that you have done your

I don't care how much whisky you drank; I don't care how many pigs or chickens you stole; I believe every one of you will fetch up in glory. I am just that charitable. By the way, this is a little bit the biggest key I ever saw but the mayor of the city will allow you to use it. I know you will do nothing to bring discredit upon the Grand Army of the Republic.

Comrades and fellow citizens of Bloomington, we are here to receive your welcome. We are glad to be here and if ever an opportunity is offered we will come again. I feel just this way —that it is good for the Grand Army of Indiana to come together in a city like this. We get a better understanding by walking around and meeting the civilians. When I talk of civilians I think of Governor Morton. Gentlemen, you believe that Divine Providence produced Abraham Lincoln and that magnificient War Governor, Oliver P. Morton. That is another reason why you should be proud of being a Hoosier. Mingling among the different people of the state we get a better idea of what we are. I am like that illustrious orator, Robert J. Ingersoll: I have but one sentiment for the soldier—'cheers for the living, tears for the dead.'

Mrs. Eva R. Courtney, Department President Woman's Relief Corps:

Mr. Chairman and Friends: I am certainly glad to meet you this evening: to bring to you greetings from the Department of Indiana Woman's Relief Corps, auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, and I wish as Department President to express our appreciation and thanks for the royal welcome and many courtesies we have received. I consider it a great pleasure to be on the platform on an occasion like this, for here we meet representatives of the city, Comrades of the Grand Army, members of the allied organizations.

Much work has been accomplished in the past but more is to be done in the future. I am reminded of a little story of a man named Joshua. He was engaged in a business in Tennessee on account of which he was brought before a judge. The judge inquired his name. He replied 'Joshua'. 'That is a very celebrated name,' said the judge. 'Are you the Joshua that made the sun stand still?' 'No', he replied 'I am the one that made the moonshine.' You have grown up the largest and grandest charitable and patriotic organization of men in existence. You do not make the sun stand still nor the moon shine, but you are making the stars shine brighter in our glorious banner.'

Mrs. Dora H. Lyon, Department President, Ladies of the G. A. R.:

Comrades, Citizens: It is my great pleasure tonight to salute you Comrades in the name of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic. mothers, wives, sisters, daughters; I feel it to be my great privilege and high honor to represent them. History records the achievements of men and women and all are accorded the highest honors to which they are entitled. The Grand Army of the Republic gave their full measure of devotion that their country might remain one and undivided. That they richly deserve that their fame and glory shall be a sacred trust we appreciate more and more as the years go on. Not only did you go, but the women as well sacrified much that the country might live. In fact, during and since the war many of us have been giving our strength and devotion; some of us are still actively engaged in the work of carrying sunshine into darkened lives.

The Daughters of the Revolution are seeking the preservation of records of those dark days in which was established this government of ours. We would not detract from the honor and glory of those patriots of early days; but we, the Ladies of the Grand Army, feel it due ourselves and you, and your associates of long ago, to appreciate in like manner the heavy sacrifices made by you, that in time to come future generations may reverence and appreciate those who saved the nation. The services of women in those days were not refused nor lightly appreciated. Then whatever they could do they did faithfully and well. The opportunities of our order are unlimited. It is our privilege to transmit your services to posterity.

Comrades, I wish to express my great pleasure in standing before you, a representative of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Music by the Bloomington High School.

Mrs. Clara G. Yengling, National President of the National Alliance Daughters of Veterans:

Department Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, your Honor the Mayor, members of all allied parriotic orders, and loyal citizens of the City of Bloomington and the State of Indiana: Would that I had words to express to you my delight and pleasure in being here with you at this yearly gathering. I am from the State of Ohio, and as your Commander-in-Chief, who is also from Ohio, is not present tonight and I seem to be the only National President of the allied orders present, I am going to extend the National greetings for our entire family.

You have honored the Indiana Department Daughters of Veterans by having the Department President, Mrs. Cora Sachs, of Terre Haute, on your platform to represent the state, and she wishes me to also extend the greetings of the Indiana Daughters of Veterans.

I am proud to represent a body of women who are the direct descendents of the heroes of '61 to '65. Our mission is to spread widely the teachings of patriotism so that those who dwell in this broad land of our shall so live that, in peace or war, there shall be no stain on the Flag our Fathers saved,

It is a living thing, this flag; woven in its beautiful, striking texture there is a history. A story of sacrifice and devotion; a story of faith and courage; of men who believed in the divine right to freedom of thought and individual liberty; men who fought that you and I might live in this glorious country, free and happy; men who have been the color guards of this nation all this time; and when I say to you, these men are our OUR FATHERS, can you wonder that we are proud of our heritage? And so my message to you as citizens of Indiana is; have your daughters, your granddaughters and your great-grandaughters join our Order.

The Hon. Judge Wilson gave to the Grand Army of the Republic this key to the City of Bloomington, and we trust that it was given to their Daughters also, and with it we hope to open the hearts and homes of the women in Bloomington so that in your city there will be an organization of the society of the Daughters of Veterans of the Civil War.

I thank you one and all for the gracious reception and good time you have given to us. I trust to meet you all again at these yearly gatherings, for it is such gatherings as this that conserve patriotism and help to keep the country safe.

Mrs. Mattie E. Lear, Senior Vice-President National Woman's Relief Corps: Mr. Chairman, Comrades of the Grand Army, Citizens of Bloomington: I am very happy to give you greetings from our National President, Abbie Lynch, who could not be present, and so she delegated me to come to you and bring to you the greetings of the Women Relief Corps, 160,000 strong. I must say, as others have said, that since I have been in this beautiful town I have enjoyed every moment of my stay. I think it is a truth that we must go away from home to appreciate what we have. I, too, am proud of Ohio. As I crossed your beautiful state and saw your farms nestling among the hills of Indiana, and saw your promising wheat fields, I thought, "Well somebody else has prosperity, outside of Ohio". I thought, "Surely Indiana has something with which to fight the high cost of living."

Last week I met with the Grand Army and various organizations in West Virginia; now I am here, and in a few days will be back in Ohio. Only a boundary line between the states; here we are, all American. One country, one flag, and all full of love of our country. From ocean to ocean and from the lakes to the Gulf. What has made this? Comrades, the World War was a great war, but no comrades in war ever suffered hardships as did the Comrades of 1861 to 1865. You shouldered arms and went to the front and laid the foundation that made it possible for the World War to make this world safe for democracy.

I am always glad to meet in these Grand Army gatherings. It was the first music that ever crossed my childish ears, the fife and drum, away out in the State of Iowa. I was told that men were enlisting to save their country. My father enlisted in the Twenty-fourth Iowa regiment. He went down to help guard the Mississippi River, and no boys suffered more than those boys. My father never came back. He is one of the unknown whose memory we perpetuate on Memorial Day. And so, Comrades, that is why I like to meet with you and remember that my father was one of you who helped to make this country great. We are glad we have the opportunity of standing by your side, and I can assure you that as your numbers grow less we will grow in strength more and more and all we do, we hope will redound to the honor of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Mrs. Florence Vewlin, Past Department President, Ladies of the G. A. R.:

Comrades, you are tired and I will talk to you tomorrow. But I will say this to the Woman's Relief Corps. You are every one dear to me because you were the first aid to my father. And to the Sons of Veterans and their Auxiliary I have nothing but words of praise; and to the Daughters of Veterans I want to say that it is one of the proudest things of my life that I am a daughter of a veteran of the Civil War. It is one of the most sacred pulsations of my heart that the blood of a patriotic hero flows through my veins. I bring you greetings from an organization that is not only pledged to keep alive your principles but to keep alive forever and forever the name of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The meeting was closed by a musical number from the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home Band.

The annual parade formed at 2 o'clock P. M., Wednesday, May 26th, being headed by the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home Band, followed by the Sons of Veterans, as escort, the Grand Army of the Republic, Spanish-War Veterans, American Legion and the Indiana Cadets R. O. T. C., with Governor Goodrich, Adjutant-General Joseph W. O'Neall and officials of the Department of Indiana in the reviewing stand.

At the Campfire held in the First M. E. Church on Wednesday evening, May 26th, the following address was delivered by Adjutant-General Joseph

W. O'Neall:

Department Commander, Comrades of the Grand Army, Members of the Woman's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., Daughters of Veterans, Sons of Veterans and Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary:

I bear to you tonight the greetings of our Commander-in-Chief, Daniel M. Hall, and extend to you his deep regret that it is not possible for him to be here.

You comrades do not know Comrade Hall as I do. There is no better Grand Army man in the United States. He entered the service as a seventeen-year old boy, in the Second Ohio Cavalry; served but a short time when he was disabled, after which he was discharged and sent home. As soon as his injuries were cured he enlisted in the Twelfth Ohio Cavalry and remained in the service until after the war ended.

He became a member of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1868. He is never absent when his Post meets if it is possible for him to attend. He was Department Commander of Ohio one year and was elected Senior Vice-Commander-in-Chief at Columbus at the last meeting, becoming Commander-in-Chief very soon after, when, as you know, Commander-in-Chief Bell died and Comrade Hall assumed the duties. Since that time he has traveled more than 10,000 miles in the interests of his comrades. His first duty was to look after the passage of the Fuller Pension Bill. He called a meeting in Washington of his Legislative Committee. He learned before reaching there that the Speaker of the House was not favorable to this bill. When the Speaker said we must not only talk economy but practice it, and that when the Smoot Bill was passed we said that was all we would ask, Comrade Hall said: "That is all we will ask if you will reduce the cost of living to what it was then." We were sent to the Steering Committee and an agreement was made to call up the bill on the first suspension day, the final result being the passage of the bill. Comrade Hall went to Washington four times in the interest of this bill.

I want to further announce that Comrade Hall has secured a rate of one cent a mile to the National Encampment at Atlantic City. This rate will apply to Comrades living in the Department of Indiana and we feel very sure that we will be able to secure the same rate from all the Passenger Associations before the meeting of the National Encampment.

Comrades, I am more than pleased to meet with this Encampment. I am glad to look into your faces. You were my comrades and there is a place in my heart big enough for every one of you. I love the men of the Grand Army of the Republic—the noblest, the most patriotic, the most loyal of all men that ever lived. You made this nation worth saving. But for your services and the services of your comrades and mine, we would not have today one country with one flag, and I trust we will soon have one country, with one flag and one language.

But for your services, I repeat, and the services of your comrades, we could not possibly be one country with one flag, and that flag "Old Glory."

But for your services and your struggles and your victories we would have at least two countries with two flags, and the Ohio River a part of the dividing line; and who can say that we would not have forty-eight countries, with forty-eight flags, and that we would not be everlastingly fighting.

A fact that is not generally known is that a county in the State of Mississippi during the war seceded, elected a president, vice-president and congress, organized an army and appointed a commander-in-chief, and according to some historians that independent state of Jones lasted for more than three years. I visited the state of Jones some time ago and I was told that they existed until the close of the war.

There is no man in the Grand Army of the Republic who is not a patriot. He offered his life to save his government. The Grand Army of the Republic has been teaching patriotism ever since the war ended. You have shown by your lives that you loved your country. Your services and the services of your comrades made it possible for us to send our boys down into Cuba during the Spanish-American War and rescue the oppressed people of that country and lift the American principles higher and higher. It was your services as soldiers of the Union Army that made it possible in this great World War to send your boy and my boy and the boys of your neighbors 2,500,000 across the sea to fight for humanity. If our country had been divided, but for your services and mine, I repeat, we would not have had one country and one flag, and the sending of our boys abroad would not have been possible. We would have had business of our own to attend to at home.

You know almost all of us thought for awhile that we put down the rebellion. I thought for a long time my own regiment, my own company, were the best in the army and I was not entirely sure that I was not the best man in the company; but my heart expanded after a while and took in my regiment. Later I said, "There is room enough in my heart for our Spanish-American War boys." Then came the World War. My own boy went across the sea and spent eleven months. Then I said, "My heart is big enough to taken in every man who holds up his hand and swears to defend his country against all enemies, foreign and domestic, and obey the lawful orders of his superior officers."

I said this afternoon in a few remarks that I made to the Ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps that I have frequently thought and now think that we of the army have taken unto ourselves entirely too much credit for having crushed the rebellion. I think our loyal women, our mothers, our wives, our sweethearts, our sisters, deserved as much credit as we did. I never knew a good soldier who did not have behind him some glorious, good woman.

The fact is, thinking of my own experience, I am not certain that there is not still a hole in the ground neary Perryville, Kentucky, where I lay during that battle. I was seared. I tell you these boys around here who have been telling you they were never scared, I charge them with being full brothers of Ananias. The fact is I think we were nearly all very badly scared. You have all heard the story of the soldier who saw the rabbit running down the line. "Run, cottontail, run," he said. "I'd run too if I had no more reputation at stake than you have."

It was my sisters and my stepmother that enabled me to stand and discharge my duties. On the morning of the second day of the Battle of Chickamauga my Captain handed me a letter—the only letter received in my company on that day. I had just time to read the last line. I read "Be a faithful soldier for God and your Country." That letter was from my stepmother. Do you think I could have run away with that letter in my pocket? I carried it for fifteen months and five days while in rebel prison. That letter from that good woman accounts for me being here tonight.

I repeat now, I am more than pleased to be here with my comrades. There is, in my judgment, no word in the English language that means so much, that brings us so close together, that is so endearing to us, as the word "Comrade." As long as we live, as long as there is a Grand Army of the Republic,—and there will be one for years to come as long as two of us live, and I intend if I can to be one of the last—we will have that same comradely feeling.

I know something about the soldiers of Indiana. It was my pleasure to serve in the division with the Tenth Indiana and the Eighty-seventh Indiana. No better soldiers ever lived. I hope that I may some time have the pleasure of meeting you again. I want to emphasize with all my heart that no matter in what regiment you served, in what army you served, where you served, if you did your duty you are as good a soldier as any solder who stood in line anywhere.

God bless the women of the Woman's Relief Corps. They are our rriends. They have worked with us, have done for us, and as Comrade Somers said this afternoon, we probably could not have existed all these years without their help. What is true of the Woman's Relief Corps is true of the Ladies of the Grand Army. They are our wives, our sisters, our daughters, our kith and kin; and God bless our Daughters of Veterans. They are our daughters. We love them. They are working in our interests.

DEPARTMENT OF INDIANA GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC

Bloomington, Ind., May 26, 1920.

The Forty-first Annual Encampment of the Department of Indiana Grand Army of the Republic, met at 8:30 A. M., and was called to order by Department Commander William F. Medsker.
Guard duty was performed by Comrades of Paul E. Slocum Post, No. 85, assisted by Comrade William F. Hepley, Officer of the Day and Comrade

William Arnold, Officer of the Guard.
Guards: Comrades William Stephenson, John Bonsel, John Back

Isaac Eller, I. N. May and Joseph Treadway.

The Encampment was opened in due form by Department Commander Medsker, after which the Department Chaplain, Comrade E. S. Scott Invoked the divine blessing:

"Oh God, our Heavenly Father, we worship Thee this morning as our God and the God of our fathers. Thou art from everlasting to everlasting; in this world of change and indecision Thou art the Abiding One.

"We thank Thee that thou hast spared our lives through another year.
We thank Thee as we look back over the years gone by that Thou has kept us through the days of battle and camp and march. In the days of the sixties when thy care was about us, protecting and defending us through all those days, we thank Thee that Thou didst enable us to do what we were able to do and for the success that Thou didst give to our armies and the reunited country which we have been permitted to enjoy. We give thanks that Thou has given us strength to do more and more of the work laid upon us, not only to prevent the division of our country, but also to help in its reconstruction, so Thou hast been with us through all these years.

"Many loved Comrades of the days gone by lie, some of them in the North and some in the South; we thank Thee that we are spared to come together once more. We look unto Thee for help. We ask that Thy blessings rest on the widows and orphans of those who have done their work and gone to 'fame's eternal camping ground.

"Give us wisdom as the different questions are brought before us for decision, and such wisdom as will be helpful. May we be enabled to be as faithful as Thou hast enabled us to be in the days gone by. Help us to be faithful, guide us, and at the last gather us into Thy eternal home we ask in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Department Commander Medsker: "The next thing in order is the report of the Committee on Credentials."

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CREDENTIALS

Bloomington, Ind., May 25, 1920.

Comrade W. F. Medsker.

Department Commander G. A. R.

Your Committee on Credentials respectfully report that they find the roll as presented by the Assistant Adjutant-General to be carefully prepared, and consider it a correct roll of the Department Encampment.

Again the Committee urge that Commanders join their Adjutants in preparing rolls of their respective Posts, being careful to include all Past Post Commanders, especially those added by transfer, as well as your Delegates and Alternates. Do this promptly following installation of your officers and be sure you have done the Adjutant-General a favor in preparing the roll for the coming encampment.

W. E. Gorsuch, G. D. Abraham, John H. Holland, J. H. Biddle, James Ransom, Committee.

Report adopted by vote of the Encampment.

The roll of department officers was called, but owing to the length of the roll of posts it was moved and seconded that the calling of the roll be dispensed with. Motion carried.

Here follows the roll-call of the Encampment.

REPORT OF COUNCIL OF ADMINISTRATION

Bloomington, Ind., May 25, 1920.

The Council of Administration met at 2 o'clock P. M., at Department Headquarters, Room 53, Bowles Hotel, the following members being present: Comrades Lewis King and W. P. McKinsey; Department Commander William F. Medsker, Assistant Adjutant-General A. J. Ball, Senior Vice-Department Commander Frank E. Tousley, Judge-Advocate Robert W. McBridge.

The meeting was called to order by Comrade Albert J. Ball who read the Rules and Order of Business, which was adopted by vote of the Council.

Time for meeting on Wednesday morning was set for 8 o'clock.

The reports of the Assistant Quartermaster-General and the Auditing Committee were then read by the Assistant Adjutant-General. The advisa bility of raising the per capital tax to thirty cents per annum and of increasing the salary of the office help to $75.00 per month was brought before the Council by Comrade Ball.

After discussing these subjects for some time the Council voted to refer both matters to the Encampment with favorable recommendation.

There being no other business the meeting adjourned.

The question of raising the per capita tax from twenty cents to thirty cents annually, and the salary of the clerk at department headquarters from $50.00 to $75.00 per month were brought up and discussed at some length. A motion was made and seconded that these matters should not be voted on hastily and a vote was taken, the result being that they were laid over until Thursday morning.

Assistant Adjutant-General Ball: "The Governor of the State of Indiana will be here at 10:10. The citizens have appointed a committee and will have an auto in front of this building in a few moments.

I would suggest that a committee should be appointed to meet Governor

Goodrich in front of the hall."

Comrades Robert W. McBride, William L. Heiskell and Orlando A. Somers were appointed on a committee to meet Governor Goodrich and conduct him to the platform.

Senior Vice-Department Commander Frank E. Tousley was called to the chair while the Department Commander delivered his address.

DEPARTMENT COMMANDER'S ADDRESS

Bloomington, Ind., May 26, 1920.

Comrades:-

On May 8, 1919, you conferred upon me the distinguished honor of being the Department Commander of the Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic. That honor is deeply appreciated. No soldier of the Civil War could decline such an honor. To you as a body and individuals, I beg to tender my most grateful thanks. It is my duty to render to you an accounting of my stewardship.

I did not have to be drafted to serve you. A Civil War soldier stands so high in my estimation that I could refuse him nothing in my power to give him. With what pride and joy can we look upon the record of our Grand Old Hoosier State, Indiana. Well can we be proud of the fact that we are Hoosiers. Our part in the gigantic struggle to preserve intact the greatest, best and freest nation on this earth should be a source of intense gratification to each of us.

The Grand Army of the Republic as a body is now, always has been and always will be One Hundred Per Cent American; One Hundred per Cent Patriotic, and a lover of the Star-Spangled Banner, the Flag of our Country.

Patriotic, and a lover of the Star-Spangled Banner, the Flag of our Country.

During the last past year I have had occasion to visit Grand Army Posts at Elhart, Goshen, Wabash, Warsaw, Kokomo, Cicero, Noblesville,
New Castle, Richmond, Greenfield, Indianapolis, Frankfort, Terre Haute, Vincennes, Princeton, Evansville, New Albany, Jeffersonville, Columbus, and a number of other places too tedious to mention, and I now desire to go on record as saying that at no place was I received in any but a royal, fraternal spirit.

As the years go by that spirit seems to intensify.

I am at a loss to understand why any Union soldier should decline the honor of being a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and thereby be entitled to wear the little Bronze Button, a badge of honor. I am justly indignant at the soldier who will wear the button and is not in good standing in some Post.

The Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic stands shoulder to shoulder with all other Departments of the Union, thanks to your undying vigilance, my Comrades.

"In Unity there is Strength." Let us continue in our united strength.

Every man owes to his country his life if it is demanded. We having made the offer should maintain the integrity of our noble and patriotic order, as an evidence of our willingness to do and teach the principles of true patriotism.

The friendly, in fact cordial relations existing between this body and all the auxiliary organizations is very gratifying and a source of congratulation to all concerned.

The Woman's Relief Corps

The Woman's Relief Corps is doing as it always has done during its existence, just what we of a right might expect from such a band of noble women. We have never lacked its support in all our undertakings.

I am informed by Mrs. Eva R. Courtney, the President of the Order, that it is in splendid condition.

The Ladies of the G. A. R.

This Society especially appeals to me. It seems to me that it is more closely allied to the Grand Army of the Republic than any other order. It can I think, appropriately be classed as members of the Royal Family.

The Society is just as earnest and faithful to our interests as our own blood and flesh can be.

I learn with pleasure from Mrs. Dora H. Lyon, President of the Society, that it is in a healthy and prosperous condition.

THE SONS OF VETERANS and their AUXILIARY are bound to us by the most sacred ties. They belong to us and we are glad of it. They are "chips from the old block" and we are proud of them. They will keep our memories green.

I learn from William Knipple, the head of the Sons of Veterans, that the Order is in a prosperous condition.

I learn from Mrs. Laura Niswander, the head of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans, that the Society is in splendid working shape, ready and willing to do their duties at all times.

The Daughters of Veterans

The Daughters of Veterans, like our wives, are our sweethearts, and right loyal they are.

I am assured by Mrs. Cora Sachs, head of the Order in Indiana, that they "stand up" for us on every occasion; are in a happy and prosperous condition, and true Daughters of Veterans of the Civil War.

The Soldiers' Home at Marion

Maintained by the general government, is as near perfect as an institution of that kind can be.

Past Department Commander, Comrade A. B. Crampton, knows his duty and does it. I am informed that he is "hand in glove" with the veterans who are staying at that delightful Home.

Indiana State Soldiers' Home

The Home at Lafayette is an institution that fills a long felt want; one that every soldier can well be proud of. It is an honor to our State.

I appointed a Committee to visit and report upon the Home, and made

I appointed a Committee to visit and report upon the Home, and made Comrade William A. Ketcham, of Indianapolis, Chairman of the Committee. Knowing his enthusiasm and thoroughness I expected and received results. I would gladly incorporate the report of the Committee in full in this report were it not so lengthy. It is on file now in the Assistant Adjutant-General's office and I strongly recommend the examination of it by every Comrade. It is full of "meat." The suggestion that a competent woman be made a member of the Board of Trustees is especially worthy of consideration.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Knightstown should make every soldier's heart swell with pride. It is indeed a gem. In my opinion it has accomplished more good than any similar institution in this State and is equal to any other in our country.

I appointed a Committee to visit this institution and a majority report was made by Past Commander, Comrade Alonzo Murphy, stating that the Home was being conducted in a satisfactory manner.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument

I want to call your attention especially to that magnificent structure that enduring monument erected by the patriotic citizens of the State of Indiana to commemorate your heroic services.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, placed in the most appropriate place, in the center of the Circle in our beautiful Capital City, is a "thing of beauty and a joy forever." Under the management of Col. Oran Perry it has been wonderfully changed. An enthusiastic and intelligent Comrade has changed the basement of the Monument into a clean, light and airy place and placed therein the nucleus of a Grand Army Museum that will We, as Comattract the attention of every patriotic citizen of our State. rades of the Grand Army of the Republic, are to be congratulated on the fact that our Comrade, Past Department Commander William A. Ketcham, is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Monument. While he serves you can, my Comrades, rest assured that Our Monument and adjoining streets will not be prostituted to base purposes.

Memorial Day

The annual observance of Memorial Day is one of our sacred duties. With sorrow and just indignation I have seen it many times prostituted to base purposes. I ask at your hands a revival of the proper observance of, to me and I trust to each of you, that Sacred Day.

The reports of the Assistant Adjutant-General and Assistant Quartermaster-General are on file in the Adjutant-General's office and are full, complete and correct, and can be examined at any time, and will be published in the Proceedings of this Encampment.

I take this opportunity of expressing my sincere thanks to your Assistant Adjutant-General and his competent assistant, Mrs. Margaret Adams, for their unceasing help and activity.

The Adjutant-General's office under the management of Comrade Albert J. Ball has been conducted in a methodical and businesslike manner. Ever ready and willing to assist me in everything asked for, his suggestions and advice have been of great help to me.

The cordiality with which he greets all Comrades who call at his office The office is too important to be placed in the hands of is very gratifying.

an incompetent person.

At the conclusion of my term of service it is with sincere pleasure that I can truthfully say that at no time or place have I failed to receive the cordial support of every Comrade appealed to.
That is what "makes life worth living."

"Eternal vigilance is the price of success" my Comrades, and it is needed if we maintain the Grand Old Order, The Grand Army of the Republic.

It should not, it shall not cease to exist until the last handful of Veterans of the Union Army shall have gone to the Eternal Camping Ground.

WILLIAM F. MEDSKER, Department Commander.

Senior Vice-Commander Frank E. Tousley:

"Comrades, you have heard the address of our Department Commander. What shall be done with it?

The usual procedure is that the report be placed in the hands of a committee."

A motion was made, seconded and carried that the above be done, and the report was turned over to the Chairman of the Committee on Address of the Department Commander.

A delegation of ladies from the Daughters of Veterans entered the hall and Mrs. Clara G. Yengling, National President of the National Alliance of the Daughters of Veterans, was introduced by the Department Commander,

Mrs. Yengling:
"As the National President of the Daughters of Veterans it surely gives me great pleasure to be admitted to your meeting and bring you greetings from your own girls, your Daughters and grand-daughters. We belong to from your own girls, your Daughters and grand-daughters. We belong to you, Comrades. It is always a privilege and honor we cherish in being admitted to your Conventions. Your Department Commander has told me you are very busy and your time is precious, so I just bring to you loving greetings from your own children, the Daughters of Veterans, and I bid you all God speed and wish you many happy years." Mrs. A. B. Goodwin of Terre Haute:

"I am a mother and a daughter; I am glad to meet you all".

Comrade Daniel H. McAbee, Post No. 17:

"Before you proceed I would like to know if the report of the Visiting Committee to the State Soldiers' Home will be made a part of this report.

Department Commander Medsker:

"That report was an extensive report. It will be made a part of the Proceedings if the Assistant Adjutant-General thinks proper. The report is voluminous and will be expensive to put in the proceedings of this Encampment. If it is the sense of this Encampment that the report shall be incorporated in the proceedings of this encampment it will be done.'

Comrade McAbee: "I move that that report be read at the Encampment at a stated hour tomorrow. I want to say to you that every one of you here ought to know what is in that report. I know you can visit the office of the Assistant Adjutant-General and read it there.

The above motion, being put to a vote, carried.

Department Commander Medsker.
"Next on the Order of Business is the appointment of Committees on Officers' Reports.

Assistant Adjutant-General Ball read the following committees:

Committee on Commander's Address.—Comrades Lewis King, C. C. Schreeder and Charles E. Hale.

Committee on Officers' Report.—Comrades A. B. Crampton, D. F. Mustard and Oscar Rankin.

Greetings to Woman's Relief Corps.—Comrades O. A. Somers, A. H. McQuiddy and Henry Graham.

Greetings to Ladies of the G. A. R.—Comrades Samuel M. Hench, Frank Davenport and J. T. Simpson. Greetings to Sons of Veterans.—Comrades John D. Alexander, Robert Dorste and Frank Joerns.

Greetings to Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary.—Comrades Alonzo Murphy. David E. Beem and B. W. Skelton.

Greetings to Daughters of Veterans.—Comrades David N. Foster, Wm. L. Heiskell and Albert J. Boley.

Legislative Committee.—Comrades Samuel M. Hench, Daniel F. Mustard, A. N. Grant, W. F. Kendall, John H. Holland, O. A. Somers, David E. Beem, J. H. Hoffman and H. A. Miller.

The rules being suspended, Comrade Vinson Carter read the following resolution:

Recognizing and looking forward to the next National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic to be held at Atlantic City and the selection of those who shall be in charge of its affairs and the interests of of our Comrades for the next ensuing year, and in view of the fact that we have a member of this State Encampment, a comrade whom many of the comrades have expressed and many more who entertain the desire to present his name to the National Encampment for the selection of Commander-in-Chief, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, That this State Encampment endorse Comrade William A. Ketcham for the position of Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic to be chosen at the next session of the National Encampment.

Comrade Ketcham was a brave and faithful soldier in the Civil War when the fighting was good and for many years he has given to the Grand Army of the Republic the full measure of his devotion and service whenever opportunity offered and in whatever capacity he has been called upon to fill. Always standing firmly for the right, having a vision for the future interest and benefit of his comrades, and endowed with the ability to bring to fruition and success those interests, this Encampment therefore, most heartily enendorses and commends Comrade Ketcham for the position of Commander-in-Chief and solicits from the comrades their active support to secure his election to that high position.

(Signed) ROBERT W. McBRIDE, VINSON CARTER.

Comrade C. C. Schreeder, Post No. 27: "It occurs to me that the resolution ought to embody an instruction to the delegates to cast their vote as a unit for William A. Ketcham for Commander-in-Chief."

Department Commander Medsker: "I know of no reason why the resolution should not be amended to that effect.

Comrade A. J. Buchanan, Post No. 281: "I move the adoption of this resolution by this encampment.

Comrade Z. T. Landers, Post No. 369: "I second the motion."

The Department Commander put the above motion to the Encampment which voted unanimously in its favor.

Comrade C. C. Schreeder: "Commander, in view of the fact that all resolutions that are offered should be presented to the Committee on Resolutions, it occurs to me that the Committee on Resolutions should be appointed at once in order that they may receive this resolution. I therefore move that we proceed to the election of a Committee on Resolutions."

As it was stated in the Order of Business that miscellaneous business should precede the election of the Resolutions Committee, the Assistant Adjutant-General read the following communications:

Please secure a delegate badge for me. I had hoped to attend the Encampment this year and visit Bloomington once more. Gentlemen:

As Mayor of the City it gives me pleasure to extend an invitation to the Grand Army to hold their next Annual Encampment in the City of Marion and I am confident that the city council and the citizens of Marion will do all in their power to make it a profitable and successful one.

Very respectfully, (Signed) E. Hulley, Mayor.

Office of the Secretary Marion Association of Commerce, Marion, Ind., May 21, 1920

Grand Army of the Republic, Room No. 25, State House, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Gentlemen:

The Board of Directors of the Marion Association of Commerce petition and request that your next Annual Encampment in the year 1921 be held in the City of Marion and the Association of Commerce will lend every reasonable effort within its power to make this Encampment one of the most successful held by your department. We are quite sure that reasonable rates can be procured from the hotels, restaurants, etc., for the accommodation of the veterans.

Hoping that your Encampment at Bloomington, Indiana, will consider Marion's request and application seriously and hoping that you may see your way clear to be with us next year, we are,

Very respectfully,

Marion, Ind., 4:17 p. m., May 26, 1920.

State Commander, G. A. R., Bloomington, Ind.

Byron Thornburg Post, American Legion, joins their Comrades, the men of '61-'65 in extending cordial invitation for the next encampment to meet in Marion, Indiana, the best city in the Hoosier State. We shall do everything possible if you come to Marion to make your stay a pleasant and interesting or e.

CARLTON L. HOUSTON, Commander.

Comrade Steele: "As Commander of Shunk Post, G. A. R., of Marion. which asked me to extend in their behalf this invitation, and with the assurence that I have from the Governor of the Soldiers' Home at Marion, Colonel Crampton, who is here, we promise that we will do our best to make your visit a pleasant one, because it is hoped that the weather will be such as will enable us to redeem the unpleasantness that the weather caused when you were there a few years ago. I thank you."

The Twelfth District placed in nomination the City of Hammond, as the place for holding the Encampment in 1921.

Department Commander Medsker: "I want to introduce to you Hon George Elliott, Mayor of the City of New Castle, who has something to say

Mr. Elliott: "Mr. Medsker, Gentlemen of the Grand Army of the Republic: I want to read you a resolution from the city council of Newcastle. (As Mr. Elliott failed to turn the above mentioned resolution over to the Department Commander, we are unable to print the same.

(Assistant Adjutant-General.)

Mr. Elliott: "We invite you to New Castle because, as this resolution says—and it was adopted unanimously by a rising vote of the council—it is the best city on earth for its size. We have here a sample of the roses."

(A large bouquet of roses from the City of Newcastle was presented to the Department Commander.)

Newcastle is the most centrally located city of any seeking the 1921 Encampment: We have railroads—the Big Four; Pennsylvania three traction lines. Forty miles east of Indianapolis; we will show you the largest automobile factory in the Central West. The Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet factory; the rolling mill; the Indiana Village for Epileptics a few miles away, and just at our door we will show you the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home. We have in Newcastle the best water in the United States. That is the prevailing drink now you understand. That is not all we have

"Gentlemen, this invitation is extended to you in all sincerity, all cordiality, all earnestness. Newcastle has never entertained the Department of Indiana. We have a population of 14,500. No city has hotels sufficient to entertein the crowds we expect, but the homes will be thrown open."

"George W. Barnes, former Mayor of Newcastle: "Gentlemen, I just want to add a little to what our good friend the Mayor has said to you.

"Before all of you fine men have to go the journey we want the honor of entertaining the Grand Army of the Republic. We never have had this honor. There are those coming here today asking this honor who have had the distinction of entertaining the Grand Army. There are many reasons it seems to me why you should meet in our city. We are not overly modest about Newcastle. We are a city of 18,000 inhabitants. (You never heard a Newcastle man who would not lie some about his town.)

The hearts and homes of the people of Newcastle will be open to the old soldiers. We revere the old soldier and we younger men try to do everything we can to honor the day of the old soldier. So we come to you this morning and with all deference to the citizens who read the letter from their mayor, we bring our mayor to the City of Bloomington to talk to you.

"We are centrally located forty-four miles east of Indianapolis. We want you to come. We have 20,000 people there; (laughter). I am surprised at the mayor who said we only had 14,000. We are a city of homes.

"Never do I hope for a higher honor than the opportunity of speaking to the old soldiers. I am told by a man who is informed, that in Henry County was formed the nucleus of twelve separate organizations in the Civil War, and the City of Newcastle gave to the service of the country, General William Grose, than whom there was no more devoted soldier. General Thomas said of him, "I never knew a braver man than Gen. Grose."

"Newcastle produced the man that stopped the Hun on the road to Paris. History when it shall be written will give to General Bundy the credit.

"I want to have some part in doing the honor to the Grand Army at Newcastle in 1921. We will take care of you with open hearts and warm hands, and when you go away from there we believe you will say that the people in the City of Newcastle love and revere the old soldier. Gentlemen, I thank you."

Comrade George Steele: "Mr. President, I want to have a word to say. It is not in apology that I refer to the fact that I presented the letter that was commented on by the gentlemen who has just taken his seat. I did it because I understood from the president of this association that they were required."

Comrade Oscar Rankin, Post No. 1, Terre Haute. "A letter inviting the Encampment in 1921 is all we have. The representative of the Sons of Veterans who was to make the personal appeal is not present. He will be here this evening."

Terre Haute, Ind., May 24, 1920.

To the Grand Army of the Republic and Affiliated Organizations:

In Convertion at Bloomington: Ladies and Gentlemen:

Through the years of the past there has been a privilege granted to the City of Terre Haute for which it has ever been appreciative. Entertaining the annual gathering of the Grand Army of the Republic and its affiliated organizations has never been taken as a task here, neither as a duty, but as a privilege and an opportunity to render homage and service.

The Encampment is not "just a convention." To we folks here in Terre Haute it possesses a deeper significance, a more tender meaning, and back of it is the spirit that has always been a potent factor in the lives of all of us as Americans. We are coming to realize more and more everywhere that we are living in an age and with a people that mean probably more than we can comprehend.

As you meet in your Annual Encampment of 1920 we express the sincere hope for Terre Haute that it will set a new era in its success. We would like for it to be so that when it has come to a close, you will feel that it has given an inspiration that will carry on and on through the years that remain.

In the past we have been privileged to entertain the Grand Army of the Republic and its affiliated organizations. And, we have liked it so well, loved this means of paying homage and giving service, that we shall count it doubly and more of a privilege if we folks here "On the Banks of the Wabash" may once more play the host and have you as our guests during the 1921 encampment.

There shall be nothing left undone which might be done. There shall be the same spirit of hospitality that we have always tried to show to the visiting. So it is that when you select your encampment city for 1921, we hope that the honor and privilege will be once more given to we folks of Terre Haute.

Sincerely, GREATER TERRE HAUTE CLUB, By A. W. McKeand, Business Manager.

CITY OF TERRE HAUTE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT CHARLES R. HUNTER, Mayor

Terre Haute, Ind., May 25, 1920.

State Encampment of the G. A. R. and All Bodies Connected Therewith:

Greetings to Your Convention Assembled:

Terre Haute asks for your next Convention. We want you with us. We will assure you a most enjoyable time and will try to make your Convention of 1921 the most enjoyable Convention that you have ever held. Our citizens ask you to come. Bring your wives and daughters and visit grand old Terre Haute on the banks of the Wabash.

We will welcome you with the glad hand and open arms and will do everything in our power to make you feel that you are glad that you held your Convention in our city.

Trusting that your Convention assembled will be one of pleasure and business both to you and to our State, I plead with you now to give Terre Haute your next Convention.

On behalf of the full citizenship of Terre Haute, I again ask you to come.

Sincerely yours,

Charles R. Hunter, Mayor.

Comrade Samuel M. Hench, Post No. 40, Ft. Wayne: "There seems to be a misunderstanding. I have heard but two places announced for us to vote on— Newcastle and Marion. A comrade here from Hammond wants to present the name of Hammond."

to present the name of Hammond."

Comrade Thomas B. Buskirk, Post No. 334, West Baden: "Commander, I represent the Post at West Baden, in Orange County. It is named for an old company commander of mine who lost his life at Vicksburg, Basil B. Decker. There are but two representatives here from the third district that I know of. The other is Comrade Snyder; a grand old soldier.

When the Third District was called somebody down there answered for

When the Third District was called somebody down there answered for Newcastle. I have friends in everyone of these towns and I would be glad to go to any of them. Newcastle is not far from the center of the State. Indianapolis is the center of the State. At Indianapolis these boys who saved the life of the nation in the War of the Rebellion would all have a chance to see that magnificient monument and the magnificent collection of pictures shown in that monument. I would suggest Indianapolis on account of its location in the central part of the State. Next to Indianapolis I would favor Newcastle."

Department Commander Medsker: 1 don't understand that the Ci y of Indianapolis has asked for the Encampment.

Comrade Isaac Pollard, Post No. 502, Hammond: "We have a population of about 30,000. If you need anything to drink, we have the lake. If you don't come there this year you will probably never come there. Hammond ought to be visited by the Grand Army. Our county has gone on record—

The comrade was interrupted by the Committee escorting into the hall Governor James P. Goodrich, who was introduced by the Department Commander, and spoke as follows:

"Commander, Members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Fellow Citizens: It is a pleasure to be here with you for a little bit this morning and a distinguished honor to have the opportunity of saying a few words to the members of the Grand Army of the Republic of this State. There never was a time in the history of the Country when an assemblage of patriots was more important than it is today, and a meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic is always a meeting of American patriots. We have just completed the World War, and the country faces a situation that calls for patriotism and sacrifices more important to the country than ever before. The members of the Grand Army of the Republic as they meet from time to time turnish new sources of inspiration to the young men of Indiana.

In 1861 the young men of America went out to fight against an evil thing—the right of one man to hold another in bondage. The young men of America went out in this great war to fight agirst another evil—the right of the Central Empires to impress their "kultur" upon the world—the vicious doctrine that might makes right. But my friends, had not the men of '61 to '65 made the great sacrifice then there would have been no united country today to cast its power in the balance and destroy the dictatorial power of the Central Empires. But when the soldiers of the rebellion checked the forces of the confederates upon the slopes of Gettysburg, they made possible the victory of the great war today. The fact that the men of '61 to '65 did their duty then made it far easier for the young men of this day and generation to do their duty in this war. They were your sons; and because you counted your lives as nothing then, they were able to measure up and do their duty in this war.

ure up and do their duty in this war.

The Japanese have a tradition that when a soldier of the Empire dies fighting on the field of battle, his spirit rises and marches side by side with the living soldiers who are fighting. So I like to think that the spirits of those who died in the War of '61 were fighting side by side with those who fought for the United States in the trenches of Europe.

The old Jews like to talk about Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and the soul of the Jewish people might be said to be made up of the sacrifices of those old patriarchs. I like to think that the soul of a country is made up of the sacrifices of her heroes; that the soul of America is made up of the sacrifices of Bunker Hill, Valley Forge, Antietam, Gettysburg and a hundred other battlefields of the Republic, the memories of the struggles of the past inspiring each generation to do its duty in the service of our country. So my friends in the crises that confront us now we need the spirit that you men had in the Civil War. We need it more than ever before because the institutions of our country are being attacked to day as never before. Disregard for law, destruction of property; those things that lie at the very foundation of our government are being attacked today from many sources. There are men abroad who would substitute national ownership for private ownership. Man has never made so much as the first step from barbarism to civilization until he took with him the institutions of private property and law and order. So my friends when we are standing by these institutions; when we are standing for law and order; when we are standing against class prejudice and the dictates of any one class against another, we are standing just as you men stood in the dark days of the Civil War.

It won't be long until the last taps will found for the members of the Grand Army. You will no longer be with us in the flesh, but the spirit of you men; the memories of your heroic deeds during the Civil War and the recollection of your stand for law and order will inspire generations yet unborn to nobler deeds and higher sacrifices for the country for which you have done so much.

I am glad to speak these words to you today. I wonder sometimes if we younger men and those of the generation just coming upon the stage of action understand the full debt of gratitude we owe to the Grand Army of the Republic. I wonder if they will have that same spirit of sacrifice and patriotism that moved you in the dark days when the integrity of the country was threatened.

It requires the spirit of sacrifice if this great empire established by your father and mine is to endure. And so if this country is to be all our forefathers dreamed of when it was established and all that they hoped for when they made the sacrifices for it, it will require that spirit of patriotism that moved Washington, Grant, Sherman, and millions of men who offered their lives in the country's cause.

Standing here today, more than half a century has elapsed since you went out to your country's call. We will fulfill our part of the contract; in the light of all the past we will discharge our duty in the present and transmit this country to our children and our children's children better and nobler because we of this day and generation did not fail to discharge our full duty. I thank you.

The Department Commander called the Encampment to their feet as a delegation from the Ladies of the G. A. R. entered the hall. Mrs. Florence

Newlin, Past Department President Ladies of the G. A. R., was introduced and spoke as follows:

Mrs. Newlin:
"Comrades, I am proud of the honor of bringing greetings to you. When our Department President distributes the honors of these conventions our members consider none greater than to carry greetings to your organization; but when I come before an audience like this; when I stand in the presence of an assemblage of the Grand Army of the Republic, I am speechless, because I feel that what I am able to say will fall so far short of what you did

There are no words, nothing in the English language to express my feelings of devotion for you who fought, endured and bled that this nation might live; who left to us this noble inheritance which we now enjoy. No tribute is too great for you who sacrificed all that our banner might wave forever, our boys in khaki standing on the foundation maintained by you. Little did you think when you fought so bravely to defend the Unior that you would live to see the day when your sons would offer their lives for the cause of humanity. Allow me to say that it was because of your victories, through your sacrifices, that your boys had the opportunity to offer their lives. You men have set in motion wave upon wave of patriotism that will never end, but will continue throughout eternity. The spirit of your sacrifices will live forever to inspire all our nation's future.

We bring to you our love, fellowship and esteem, holding ourselves in readiness to sustain you and co-operate with you in every way which we may. It is the desire of our organization that you have a pleasant and profitable meeting.

It is our custom to bring to you at these conventions, flowers, a flag or something as a token of our appreciation of you. This year we bring you a picture. We have many beautiful, grand, noble and inspiring pictures. We have selected one that contains the radiant sunlight and golder glory of the divine. One that when you gaze upon will stir your hearts to a depth that is not possible for any other. We have all this, and more than tongue or pen can tell in this picture of our illustrious martyr, Abraham Lincolv. (Applause).

"It has been many years since the little rough Kentucky cabin first sheltered the child that was born to be more than king or emperor. No bright star burned above it. In poverty the child spent his young life until, at the age of nine years he helped to make the coffin to hide the face of her who gave him birth.

"It is not necessary to call the roll of his deeds. He bore the burdens of all upon his shoulders. His great soul knew no North or South; for him there was no East, no West. Sick at heart he never surrendered; and after four years of crucifixion he suffered death at the assassin's hands. Such was the life and soul of our martyred President, Abraham Lincoln. I thank you."

"Mr. Lincoln lived in my county and my wife's father used A Comrade:

to wrestle with him in Spencer county."

Department Commander Medsker: "Mrs. Newlin, the Department of Indian) accepts this beautiful token with fervent thanks."

Mrs. Mattie Miue: "I was reminded when the former speaker, who was speaking when we came in, in regard to who would tell the world the story when the Boys in Blue are gone-

When the comrades have departed, when the veterans are no more, When the bugle call has sounded on that everlasting shore,

When life's weary march is ended, when the campfires slumber long, Who will tell the world the story when the 'Boys in Blue' are gone?

"Who will tell about the marching from Atlanta to the Sea, Who will halt and wait and lister when they hear the reveille? Who will join to swell the chorus of some old Grand Army song? Who will tell the world the story when the 'Boys in Blue' are gone?

"Your descendants of this nation will tell of triumphs won, When on earth your work is ended and the veteran claims his own; We will cherish dear 'Old Glory' and its teachings pass along; We will tell the world the story when the 'Boys in Blue' are gone.

"By that Flag, our Country's emblem, we pledge allegiance new; To its glorious, splendid mission, will hearts beat ever true. That the nation be protected 'gainst injustice and all wrong, We will tell the world the story when the 'Boys in Blue' are gone.

"We will keep each star unblemished, and its stripes without a stain; We will take the veteran's places and repeat their roll of fame; We will keep our Country's honor, and the Flag above the wrong; You can trust us with the story, when the 'Boys in Blue' are gone."

Commander, to you, personally, we wish to present this flag." (Presented small flag on staff to the Department Commander.)

Department Commander: "Permit me to say that I accept this flag with heartfelt thanks."

Mrs. Sue Beale: "I will say that you are an awful nice looking set of boys and instead of getting older you are getting younger. I will just say, Good-bye.'

Colonel T. J. Louden was introduced and gave the comrades a brief talk on the line of march in the parade, stating that autos would be available for all who did not feel able to march.

Comrade Isaac Pollard, of Hammond: "I was saying that the City of Hammond invites you. I have letters from the Mayor and the Chamber of Commerce. You are invited by all the patriots of that city.

A vote by districts was taken to determine the place for holding the Encampment of 1921, with the following result:

Newcastle	186 votes
Marion	42
Hammond	• 2
Terre Haute

On motion, duly seconded, the vote for Newcastle was made unanimous and the Assistant Adjutant-General announced that the Department Encampment of 1921 would be held in Newcastle, the date to be fixed later.

Department Commander Medsker: "I beg to call your attention to the fact that we have some visitors you will be glad to see."

A committee from the Woman's Relief Corps was escorted to the stage and introduced by the Department Commander.

Mrs. Melissa Caylor, Past Department President, Woman's Relief Corps:

"Commander Medsker, it surely is a great pleasure and joy to me to come into the convention over which Commander Medsker presides, and J will tell you why. For a time during the Civil War he was closely associated with my husband. They were both members of the Seventy-fifth Indiana Volunteers and you know that the Seventy-fifth was that famouns regiment that put down the rebellion. I have been attending their reunions and I can tell you I am thoroughly imbued with the wonderful part this Seventyfifth Indiana played in the great war of '61 to '65.

Comrades, I want to say before I go any further, you can not imagine what a pleasure it was to me and how much joy I got out of being invited to come to your convention again. It has been several years since I have had that privilege. We had a standing committee that claimed the honor of coming year after year, and the rest did not get to come, but it certainly is a pleasure to me to come and look into your faces again.

I have sometimes wondered if God in His infinite wisdom die not have a hand in creating this World War, that the young men of today might be qualified to take your places. There certainly is no one more qualified than the true and tried soldier. He knows what it cost to preserve the life of this nation. There are not many more years that you will be active soldiers and it is well that the young soldiers are coming in to take your places. I have thought that the minds and characters of these young men will be molded that they may take up the battles of life and protect the United States as you men have guarded and projected us. We owe all that is good in this nation to the Grand Army of the Republic. You have established honor and law throughout the nation. I am not a politiciar; but I do believe that there is no one so fitted to head our government and preside over our country as a true and tried soldier. You made no mistake after the Civil War when you elected General Grant as President. He was the man best fitted; he knew what it had cost, as no one who had not been through the war could understand what our flag meant. One who has fought for his country can be more loyal to his flag and his courtry than one who has not. Of course we have had other soldier presidents since the war, and all have filled the position with honor and credit to this nation; and our Department President in looking around and trying to get something they wanted at Grand Army headquarters has purchased a picture of General Garfield, and she presents it to you with the love and loyalty of the Woman's Relief Corps. She is here to tell you something good, Comrades, and I am not going to take all the time; and the Commander's wife—we want a word from her, and also from our National Senior-Vice."

Department Commander Medsker: "Mrs. Caylor, in behalf of the Department Commander Medsker ment of Indiana Grand Army of the Republic I say to you that we are just as thankful to you as we can be. We accept this picture in the same spirit n which you present it.—fraternity, charity and loyalty.

Mrs. Eva R. Courtney, Department President Woman's Relief Corps:
"Commander, this is certainly an unexpected pleasure to me; I had not thought of getting into your Encampment, but this morning at our convention we unanimously adopted a resolution to send the Department President over here on behalf of our department to present a check for $100.00 to the Department of Indiana Grand Army of the Republic. I did not come here to make a speech; I simply came to tell you that we are going to have the money for you just as soon as we can get the check written out."

Department Commander Medsker: "Mrs. Courtney, there is some style to that. On behalf of the Department of Indiana I will say that we will be very glad to receive your generous present and that you have our grateful thanks for the same."

Mrs. Mattie E. Lear, Senior Vice-President National Woman's Relief Corps: "Comrades, it certainly is a great treat to me to come into the Encampment of the Department of Indiana Grand Army of the Republic and look into your faces. I did not know I was to have this pleasure until the ladies invited me to come with them.

There is no organization I love to go into more than to be in and around where the men are assembled that wear the little brown button. I am here as a representative of the National Organization of the Woman's Relief Corps, and I come to bring you greetings from our National President and 160,000 members of the grand organization you called into being at Denver, Colorado.

"I believe your own Department President forgot to tell you she has increased in membership this year and that she has a membership of nearly 8,000. And as you are turning your faces toward the setting sun we hope to incr ase in numbers; and we shall always remember on Memorial Day the soldiers of '61 to '65.

Comrades, I have the pleasure of introducing to you Mrs. Medsker, the wife of the Department Commander."

Mrs. Medsker:

"I will not take up your time, Comrades. I extend you greetings." The Encampment extended a vote of thanks to the Woman's Relief Corps for the check of $100.00 presented by their Department President, after which the districts organized and the following Comrades were reported as elected Delegates to the National Encampment:

MEDICAL DIRECTOR'S REPORT May, 1920

To the Commander and Comrades, Department of Indiana:

After being honored with the position of Medical Director of the Department of Indiana for six years, it would appear to me that I had a right to make quite an extensive report, not so much as to what I have done but as to what the Department has done for me. We all have a certain amount of gratitude in our hearts for the privilege of having passed our three score and ten years, and many of having passed the fourth score, though each succeeding year as we meet in our State Encampment familiar faces are absent. I believe that we have suffered worse from the ravages of time since we last met at Elkhart, Indiana, and had such a splendid State Encampment. ment, enjoyed by every one who was present, but our hearts have been made sad since then that the familiar faces of Colonel Fesler, Captain Garrigus, Past Department Commander Asbury, and only a little after the passing of Judge Comstock and his stately and dignified appearance has passed for all time. Other Comrades whose faces became familiar figures at our Encampment have also answered the last roll call, but so far, all who listen to this report have won a victory over the ravages of disease and danger of fatal accidents and perils of sun stroke by day and murderous designs by burglars by night, and have proved all false prophets who declared we would catch our death of cold, for we never got it. Have read and been told in the last twenty years so much about scientific progress in the matter of dealing with human systems and the doctor of the old school, whose diploma dates back about fifty years, feels justified in looking for some preventive of the infirmities of ages and some discovery tending to lengthen human life. The old doctor mentioned is willing to acknowledge himself behind the times, and without a continuous practice of medicine for nearly fifty years I shall assume has the right to give my comrades some advice as to the care of their failing bodies. My advice is short and easily observed. Keep your heads cool and your feet warm; stay in the house during the inclement weather; spend as much time as possible out doors during warm weather; eat sparingly stay sober and keep ir good humor. With this advice, Comrades, as your Medical Director I shall bid you good-bye.

I hope to be able to meet with you at each succeeding Encampment for a number of years yet, but not as Medical Director.

I return to you thanks for the kind treatment that I have received at your hands and hope that you can find me a good successor.

Very truly, Stephen I. Brown, Medical Director of the Department of Indiana.

REPORT OF RECRUITING OFFICER

NINTH DISTRICT

Commander and Comrades:—

As your Recruiting Officer in the Ninth Congressional District during the last year I submit the following report:

We have had many meetings during the year throughout the District.

1. First: At Kokomo, August 8, 1919. This meeting was largely attended by Comrades and members of the W. R. C. from Kokomo and Howard County. Also from the contiguous counties of Cass, Carroll, Clinton, Tipton and Miami. The meeting could well have been called a "District Meeting" because it was so large and so enthusiastic.

2. The second meeting was at Zionsville, August 12, 1919, as a part of their Chatauqua.

3. The third was the Hamilton County Annual Soldiers' Reunion at Noblesville, September 25, 1919, and the attendance was so large as to fill to overflowing the large Court room. A free dinner and a splendid one was served by the Woman's Relief Corps.

4. The District Meeting was held at Frankfort, October 30, 1919, and while the attendance was not large on account of the inclemency of the weather, yet we had a most enjoyable meeting. Our Department Commander, William F. Medsker, attended the meetings and made speeches at Kokomo, Zionsville and Frankfort. In fact, I never called on him to come over into Macedonia and help us but what he most cheerfully responded. Every courty in the District was represented in the District Meeting and we were favored by the presence and speeches from Past Department Commanders Garrigus, Hench and Somers. Besides these we had some red hot patriotic speeches from the rank and file of our Comrades. It pays to have a District Meeting that is worth while.

5. On the anniversary of the Battle of Mills Spring, Kentucky, January 19, 1862, the gallant 10th Regiment, Ind. Vol. Inf., held a celebration in the Rich Mountain Post Hall at Lebanon, Indiana. They were thoughtful enough to ask me to attend and I was patriotic enough to go. It was an inspiration to hear many men of that regiment relate their recollections of their first baptism with fire. It was difficult to tell which Comrade really claimed the credit of having fired the bullet that killed General Zollicoffer, but all agreed that Jim Robbins, who is with us today, was the first Union soldier to reach the dead General's body and drag him from where he fell to the roadside.

6. On Lincoln's Birthday and Washington's Birthday we had so many soldier-patriotic meetings throughout the District that I cannot enumerate them. Suffice it to say meetings were held in every county in the District and in some instances joint meetings were held with the World War Veterans.

Out of all this soldier activity has come many good results. Posts have mustered in new recruits and re-instated many dropped Comrades. But this was easily done when we consider that we have ir Indiana 753 soldiers who never joined the G. A. R., and more than 16,000 that have been dropped for non-payment of dues and other insufficient causes. It is almost inconceivable that any honorably discharged soldier should be dropped from membership in the Grand Army of the Republic. The latest obtainable data from the Pension Office shows there were 31,237 Civil War Veterans on the pension rolls in Indiana and less than one-third of them in the Grand Army of the Republic. Is there nothing for Recruiting Officers to do? Have the Posts nothing to do but talk about consolidations, surrender of charters, or just quitting? Are the Posts to just quit and divide up their money pro-rata among the quitters as was done recently in this Department, but not in the 9th District?

In conclusion I call attention to the heavy mortality in our ranks in the District. The most notable deaths have been Captain Garrigus, Past Department Commander; Captain George D. Tate, and Comrade Eli Quaintance, all of Kokomo—the latter having served as Color Bearer in two regiments in the service, and Captain Hart, of Frankfort, ex-Auditor of State and ex-3rd Controller of the Treasury of the United States. I attended all of these funerals, as I have in every instance when notified in time. I am decided in my opinion that every deceased soldier of the War of the Rebellion should be buried with the honor, of war on account of the impression it will make on coming generations.

Respectfully submitted in F. C. and L., A. N. GRANT Recruiting Officer 9th Congressional District.

REPORT OF WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS

Winchester, Ind., May 17, 1920. Wm. F. Medsker, Department Commander, Indiana G. A. R. Dear Sir:-

I have the honor to submit the following report of relief extended by the Department of Indiana Woman's Relief Corps for the year just ending: Cash expended for relief..... 130 24 369 45 $686 46 Respectfully submitted in F. C. and L.,

EVA ROBERTS COURTNEY, Department President.

The Encampment adjourned, to meet on Thursday morning.

Thursday, May 27.

The Encampment was opened in due form by Department Commander Medsker, at 8:30 A. M.

Department Commander: "Comrades, I want to call your attention to the fact that we have some business of importance to attend to at once."

Comrade A.onzo Murphy: "Commander, there is a matter of importance to this entire Encampment, and in order to get it before you at once I make a motion to this effect; that the Council of Administration be authorized by this Department to raise our per capita tax from twenty cents to thirty cents a year, payable semi-annually, beginning with the first of July of this year, if I can meet with a second."

Motion seconded.

Department Commander: "Comrades, you have heard the motion of Comrade Murphy, are you ready for the question?"

Comrade Hugh Cummings, Post No. 209: "I think raising our percapita tax one-half is a little steep. I want to make an amendment to that motion; that we make the per capita tax twenty-five cents instead of thirty cents, if I can meet with a second.

Cries of "Question."

Department Commander: "I have heard no second."

A Comrade: "I think for a soldier drawing $50.00 a month this is a mighty little thing to quibble about.

Department Commander: "The motion made by Comrade Murphy is to be amended to substitute twenty-five cents instead of thirty cents. Are you ready for the question?"

Comrade Murphy: "I think we had better let it go at ten cents."

Comrade William P. McKinsey: "Commander, I move that the amendment lie on the table.'

Department Commander: "You have heard the motion to allow the amendment to lie on the table. Are you ready for the question? All in favor of the motion to allow amendment to lie on the table say "Ay.

Motion to lie on the table carried.

Comrade Murphy: "Now Comrades, the situation is simply this. Department is up against a condition, financially. The high cost of living has affected the administration of the affairs of the Department Headquarters. We have had for about ten years in the employ of the office a lady who has become thoroughly familiar with the work and is a great help to the Assistant Adjutant-General. She knows the work as no other person ir the State of Indiana knows it. She can not afford any longer to do the work for what we have been paying her and will have to have a raise in salary. This is one of the items that makes it necessary to ask an increase in the per capita tax. Then printing, and all other expenses connected with the affairs of the Department are at least twice as high as they have been formerly and some as much as three times as high. For two years we have been in an embarrassed condition financially.'

Comrades: "Question:"

Department Commander: "Comrades, all in favor of increasing the per capita tax to thirty cents a year, say 'Ay."

The motion was carried, by vote of the Encampment.

Department Commander: "Comrades, I would call your attention to the fact that our distinguished visitor, Adjutant-General O'Neall wants to bid you good-bye."

Adjutant-General Joseph W. O'Neall:

"Department Commander and Comrades: I very much regret that I have but just a moment this morning. I have an appointment tonight that must be met. I am very glad indeed to visit the Department of Indiana, but I am very sorry that our Commander-in-Chief was not able to be with you. He has traveled more than 19,000 miles. No comrade in the United States is more deeply interested in your welfare and the welfare of all the Comrades. He was with me until day before yesterday morning, when it was necessary for him to change his plans and send me as his representative.

"I want to assure you that the National Headquarters are doing all they can for you. They have secured the passage of the Fuller Bill, and I want to say to you that you owe much to your own Comrade Somers. When you draw your pension of fifty dollars remember Comrade Somers, who is a member of the Committee on Legislation, and aided in securing the pension increase.

'I want to say one thing more. This is, we hope to see you at Atlantic City. We have secured a rate of one cent a mile from the Trunk Lines and Central Passenger Associations and we hope before the Encampment is held on the 26th of September that we will be able to secure from the five other passenger associations a rate of one cent a mile.

"Our numbers are growing fewer every day. Eleven thousand veterans have died since the first day of January. We should all stand together as we have in the past. You live in the best and wealthiest country on earth. I thank God that we have been able to save this country for ourselves, our boys, our girls. There are no I. W. W.'s in the Grand Army of the Republic. All these years we have been teaching the lessons of patriotism, and as long as we live we will continue to teach them.

I thank you.

Comrade O. A. Somers: "Comrades, we want to send greetings of this Encampment to National Headquarters.

"Comrade O'Neall has kindly referred to me. I appreciate that very much. I am only one of a number that has tried to accomplish something.

"Whenever I see Comrade O'Neall I am reminded that the price of this government has not been paid. Wounded at Shiloh, again at Chickamaugua, from that day to this he has carried these crutches. What would you charge to go on crutches for more than half a century? He, in common with many others of our Comrades is still paying the price of our Republic. I think we feel kindly toward him and can send the greetings of this Department to Comrade Hall."

Department Commander Medsker: "Comrades, as a matter of respect to Comrade O'Neall I suggest that we have a rising vote and bid him God speed" and that we tender regards and sympathy to Commander-in-Chief Hall.

The Encampment voted unanimously in favor of the above.

Department Commander: "Comrades, we are now going to hear the reports of the Committees."

The report of the Committee on the Department Commander's address was read by Comrade Charles E. Hale.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON COMMANDER'S ADDRESS

Bloomington, Ind., May 27, 1920.

We, the Committee appointed to examine and report or the Commander's address, beg leave to submit the following:

We find said report to be clear and explicit, covering the more important items in which the Department is vitally interested.

We commend it for its patriotism breathed forth in its pages and also its spirit of loyalty to our order and to the individual members of the same. There is one point, however, in the address in which we could not fully concur, viz: the praise and commend tion of one of our allied organizations to the disparagement of our Auxiliary.

Committee—Lewis King,

C. C. Schreeder, Charles E. Hale.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON OFFICER'S REPORTS

To the Department Commander, Officers and Members of the Grand Army of the Republic of Indiana:

Gentlemen:-

We, your Committee appointed to audit reports of the Assistant Adjutant-General and Department Chaplain and Medical Director of the Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic, most respectfully report that we have carefully examined reports and expenditures as submitted by Comrade Albert J. Ball, Assistant Quartermaster-General, and find same correct in all things.

We further find the reports of the Department Chaplain, E. S. Scott and Medical Director, S. I. Brown, to be full and complete. We further find both of the above named officers to have discharged their duties in a zealous and most efficient manner and are entitled to the gracious thanks of the members of the Grang Army of the Republic, Department of Indians.

Committee—D. F. Mustard, Oscar Rankin, A. B. Crampton.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS

Comrade William A. Ketcham, Chairman: "Here is a resolution coming from the post at Cannelton, that the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Indiana be amended so as to provide that the Posts may consolidate the offices of Post Adjutant and I ost Quartermaster.

"There is no such thing as rules and regulations of the Department of Indiana. There are rules and regulations of the Grand Army of the Republic and under existing rules it is entirely proper if any post desires, and a great many posts have, I understane, to consolidate the offices of Adjutant and Quartermaster, they are entirely at liberty to do so. As such a resolution is entirely unnecessary, the Committee recommends that the resolution being efficiently postponed. I move the adoption of the report of the Committee."

The Encampment voted to adopt the report of the Committee. Comrade Ketcham: "Here is a communication from a man who signs himself as Albert Boswell, Director of Co-operating Organizations, and with it he present three 'whereases' and three resolutions committing this Encampment to careful investment in liberty bonds, thrift bonds, etc.

"I think I can say on behalf of most of the Committee; we have always been quite opposed to a boss of any kind, and more especially opposed to being bossed by anybody from Washington, whether he belongs to my party, the other party, or no party. On that I move the indefirite postponement of that communication.'

Upon the above being put to a vote by the Department Commander the report of the Committee was approved.

The next was a resolution from Dela Hunt Post No. 152, Cannelton, Indiana, recommending Indianapolis as a permanent meeting place for the Department Encampment. Of this resolution, Comrade Ketcham said:

The Committee was unanimously of the opinion that whatever may happen in the future, the time has not yet arrived that we should stop carrying a school of patriotism through the cities of the State in order that they may come in contact with this organization, and we recommend that this resolution be indefinitely postpored.'

The report of the Committee was approved by vote of the Encampment. Comrade Ketcham: "The next is a modest resolution presented by Past Department Commander Hench, somewhat delayed, in which we are asked to return our thanks to Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, for approving the Fuller Pension Bill.

Resolved by the Department Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic for the State of Indiana that it extend its sincere thanks to Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, for approving the Fuller Pension Law on the first day of May; which law grants to the soldiers of the Civil War a pension that will enable all veterans of said war to pass the remainder of their lives in comfort.

(Signed) S. M. Hench.

"I have taken the liberty to modify that resolution so as to show that we extend our thanks to Congress and the President. I am not willing that I shall, personally, nor that this Encampment shall go on record as singling out one individual man and turning down the five hundred or more that gave me the pension and I move, Commander, that the substitute proposed by the Committee be adopted.

Department Commander: "You have heard that motion; are you ready for the question? All in favor of adopting the resolution as amended, say

The resolution was adopted with the proposed amendment, by vote of the Encampment.

Comrade Ketcham: "I will now direct your attention to Comrade David

H. Flynn; he has more voice than I have.'

Comrade Fignn: "This is a report signed by Comrade William A. Ketcham, as Chairmai of the Resolutions Committee, myself, and all the members of the Resolution Committee."

RESOLUTION

The citizens of this beautiful city have received us most cordially; handsomely decorating their city; furnishing free transportation to those wishing to view the city; throwing open their homes to the Comrades, and making our stay a pleasant and profitable one in every way for the State Encampment of the G. A. R. Therefore,

Be it Resolved, that our sincere and hearty thanks be extended to the Citizens of Bloomington for their open and generous hospitality."

Comrade Ketcham: "Commander, in endorsing that motion I trust that I may be permitted to add just a word.

"We are here in the home of my fathers, and when my mind goes back to the early and middle part of the century that is now dead and buried, thoughts crowd in on me that you would not care to listen to and I would not have voice to pronounce. 'The tender grace of a day that is dead, can never come back to us', and in future years as we travel down the slope, there will always be it our hearts the memory of the splendid reception that has been given to us by the hospitable citizens of this classic city. We can never forget what we have received, and I trust that they can never forget what they have given; and so, Commander, I ask the adoption of this resolution by a rising vote of this Encampment.'

The above resolution was adopted by unanimous, rising vote of the Encampment.

Comrade Ketcham: "On the next I have taken the liberty to report as seems to me proper, and I want the Committee on Resolutions especially to listen to this part of my report, because if they do not approve it or want to consider it I will call a meeting of the Committee to consider it, but I think we can get through it without a meeting of the Committee. This is a series of resolutions presented by the Patriotic Instructor of William Landon Post No. 290, that went to sleep in Comrade Somers' pocket. His proposition is that by law, in all public schools the pupils be taught to salute the flag; and the next is that in all public schools there should be hung, properly framed, a copy of the immortal address of Abraham Lincoln at Gestysburg:

North Judson, Ind., May 2, 1920.

To the Department Commander of Indiana, G. A. R.

Dear Sir and Comrade:-

Having served as Patriotic Instructor for this county for the past ten years, and having done my full duty in visiting all the schools ir this (Starke) County, and numerous others in other towns, and have tried to instill loyalty and patriotism in the minds of the young scholars by illustrations of deeds done by our Comrades during the War of '61 to '65, and have been well received and listened to with marked attention wherever I have addressed

But there are two important things that I want to call your attention to which I think are very important and should be put before the next legislators, and I have taken this up with some of the teachers and county superintendents and they all agree with me.

Once a year I have to make out my report in which two questions are asked, and to both I have to answer "No."

First is this: Is the Flag saluted daily? Answer "No."

Second: Has Lincoln's Gettysburg Address been placed in all your school rooms? Answer "No."

Now as to saluting the flag; when the scholars are seated and are ready to take up their lessons it will not take but one minute for the teacher to command them to arise and salute the flag, which should hang unfurled in each schoolroom.

Now I find none of Lincoln's Gettysburg Addresses in the school rooms, only in the books of History. This also should be hung on the walls in frames, so each child can see it and commit the same to memory.

I am making a determined effort to get them for my township.

Comrades, I suggest that you appoint a committee from the Post at Indianapolis to go before the next legislature and make a great effort to have these two matters enacted into law, for we can not have too much patriotism taught to the rising generation, and we well know what is taught to them in their young school days will go with them through life.

The reason I suggest a committee from an Indianapolis Post is that there will be no traveling expense.

Yours truly,

W. H. REPLOGLE,

Patriotic Instructor.

For William Landon Post No. 290, Department of Indiana. John G. Kratli, Post Commander. JOHN E. COLLINS, Adjutant.

"Upon that I have taken the liberty to recommend that the resolutio" be passed to the incoming administration with the approval of this Encamp ment, and unless I hear some objection from some member of the Committee on Resolutions I will move the adoption of that report.

"I hear no objection and I make that motion, Commander."

Department Commander: "Comrades, you have heard the report of the Committee to report that resolution favorably to the incoming administration. Are you ready for the question?"

Upon the above being put to a vote, the Encampment approved the report of the Committee.

Comrade Ketcham: "Now Commander, in accordance with the custom, having approved in detail the report of the Committee on Resolutions, I move that the report of the Committee as an entirety be adopted; and in doing so, even again at the risk of trespassing on the time of those who are anxious to get through and away, I want to return to this Encampment as I could not in the confusion yesterday when they were going out—I want to return to this Encampment my heartfelt thanks for the gracious courtesy you have extended to me, and to say that in season and out of season; whether Atlantic City approves your action or not, I shall always be at the command of the Grand Army of the Republic."

Department Commander: "Comrades, I am sure that you all feel that Comrade Ketcham is welcome to all that we have done in his behalf."

The motion of Comrade Ketcham that the report of the committee as an entirety be adopted was approved by the Encampment.

The reports of the Committees on Greetings being next in order, the Department Commander called for the report of the Committee that carried greetings to the Woman's Relief Corps.

Comrade Orlando A. Somers: "I have the honor to be Chairman of that Committee. If the other members of the Committee had been more like me they would not have lost the opportunity to visit a body of the finest looking women in the State of Indiana.

'I visited the Relief Corps in company with Adjutant-General O'Neall. Wε were cordially received and there is a spirit in that body which is more tender; a more kindly sentiment in their hearts toward the Grand Army of the Republic, and as we row older and vanish from the scene the Relief Corps will grow in strength; and wher we are but a memory I trust that this country may have the benefit of their patriotic teachings through all the generations that shall come; and when history shall be written, let it be written what they have accomplished in the loving service they gave the Grand Army of the Republic.'

Comrade J. D. Alexander: "I have just been to visit the Sons of Veterans and I find them in good shape. I said to them that I tried to get the Committee together: the others had escaped, but I did not by reasor of using a

They requested me to bring to you their best wishes.'

Comrade David N. Foster: "Commander, your Committee visited the convention of the Daughters of Veterans and were most cordially received. We found them holding a very enthusiastic meeting and they bade us give this Encampment their heartiest good wishes and love."

Comrade D. H. McAbee: "Commander, do I understand that all the Committees that have been appointed by this Encampment have reported?"

Department Commander: "Not all yet, Comrade."

Comrade McAbee: "I asked that information for this reason. This Department appointed a Committee on Visitation to the Soldiers' Home at Lafayette. That Committee returned a report and turned it in to the Department Commander. That is the last we have heard of it, and I would like to ask this question right here; have any of you ever heard a report from the Visiting Committee to the Soldiers' Home read from that platform?"

"Commander, I move you that the Chairman of that Committee on Visitation to the Soldiers' Home read his report."

Comrade W. P. McKinsey: "Commander, I move that motion lie on Department Commander. "The question is, Comrades, shall this report be laid upor the table.

Upon being put to a vote the Encampment voted to hear the report read. After announcing that he would not undertake to read the entire report, but that it would be on file in the office of the Assistant Adjutant-General where any one who cared to read it could so, Comrade Ketcham read the following extracts from his report:

It is at once obvious to any thoughtful mind that where nearly one thousand people, most of them of advanced age and many feeble, where they have nothing particular to do or occupy their minds, there will in the nature of things be many complaints. . The number of these that have come to me are legion and I have not the time nor would you have the patience to consider them all if I should call your attention to them. On the contention that none of the ladies should be permitted to wear better or more attractive clothes than others, I desire to say that with my limited acquaintance with woman-kind I should not envy the position of any officer, or Board, who should attempt to make or enforce such an order. Nor am I especially enamored with the suggestion that the basement under the Assembly Room or Chapel should be denied for use as a pool-room or for card playing by the Comrades. Their own sense of propriety would preclude the use of the premises for such purposes when meetings of a religious or patriotic character are being held in the hall above, and if not, the officers should promptly see to it that no such use should be made of the basement on such occasions.

OBJECTIONS AND COMPLAINTS CONSIDERED

The pension question and the permitted use by the Board of a portion of the pensions for the support of the Home. As it seems to me more objection and more serious criticism was made of this than of any other matter—except, perhaps the food, as to which I will speak later. This objection although so earnestly insisted upon, does not commend itself to my judgment.

In the first place it is provided by law and could not be got rid of except by amendment of the law itself or the refusal of the Board to avail itself of the provisions of the law.

There are parties outside the Home seeking to eke out an existence with nothing but their pension on which to live; to permit those on the inside of the Home to be fed, clothed and warmed—cared for generally—and yet retain their pensions, while those outside must feed, clothe and care for themselves and perhaps their wives and children on their pensions, would constitute a discrimination that to my mind would seem monstrous and so I pass this objection with the remark that it in no wise commends itself to

To my mind the food is a far more serious question.

It should be borne in mind that the members of this Home are no longer young and their stomachs are as old, if not older, than their owners.

H. T. and S. B. went well enough with these boys in the hey-day of their youth when they were compelled to take exercise to aid their digestive apparatus. All of them have long since passed the "three score and ten mark" and with many their stomachs have received rough usage and are largely worn out.

While the widows are younger, all of them must be over forty-five to be admitted. In the Main Dining Hall where they are served by the hundreds they are supplied with only two cooks—Mr. and Mrs. Pine; the members eat after the employes are served, with the chance if not certainty that that which might have been palatable an hour before has become nauseating.

The private kitchens that cluster about the hillside tell a mute but pitiful story of the insufficiency in character or amount of food. I am informed that for the Main Dining Hall there are but two cooks—Mr. and Mrs. Pine, although drawing the pay for five persons; while it may not be necessary to supply five cooks, I am assured and believe it to be true that more than two are necessary for proper and efficient service.

While potatoes boiled are palatable and nutritive when served hot they lose these qualities when permitted to get cold or to remain in the water in which they are cooked until they get soggy or water soaked.

The coffee should be emptied after each meal—and this applies to a meal furnished to the employes at an earlier hour,—the bags should be well cleaned and coffee made again so as to be served hot and fresh to the members when they come to the table.

The iron cooking utensils should be replaced with porcelain unless food is to be served promptly as soon as cooked. without waiting for an interval

It is my information that in former years the Home made the experiment of fattening their own hogs but at one time—perhaps more—the cholera caught them and the venture became a total loss and has consequently been discontinued for many years.

With the discovery and improvement of serum it seems to me that it might be well to consider renewing the experiment on a scale sufficient to see whether it can not be worked to advantage. There are in the Home, doubtless, not a few farmers who would know how to handle these animals and in doing so renew their youth.

The bread is said to be bad because it is made of bad flour, which can not make good bread; no fault seems to be found with the baker except that he can not "make bricks without straw.

The milk is at times bad, carrying an odor as though not clean and at other times not sufficient in quantity.

The meat served at the first table to the employes and not eaten by them is served at the second and third tables to the members.

No man who in his youth served his Country; no wife and no widow ought to be required to submit to second table service; that privilege should be reserved to children in private families where the watchful eye of the mother could see to it that no imposition can be practiced.

The dietician is not satisfactory. A skilled dietician should be found outside the Home whose directions should be obeyed by the person in the Home having oversight over the tables.

There is not sufficient variety in the food. Pies, pastry, puddings, cakes and sweets should occasionally and not too infrequently be furnished to tempt capricious apperites and furnish the variety which in food as in other matters is "the spice of life."

While oleomargarine has in many families largely supplanted the use of butter it will not serve the purpose for those whose stomachs have been weakened or impaired by age or ill health.

I see no serious objection to furnishing the officers and others from the commissary supplies except in the case of meats; with them it is inevitable that the officers will fare better than the members and it is quite certain to my mind that there has been a scant furnishing of the choice cuts of meats to the members, except perhaps at Christmas, Thanksgiving and a few holidays, while I feel reasonably certain from what is reported to me that the Commandant and other officers have not lacked in the supply of choice

The officers—all of them, from the Commandant down—should not infrequently dine with the members at their tables, so that they could see with their own eyes and taste with their own mouths, the food that is eaten by the members.

I think that the practice of collecting moneys by the officers from any of the members for supposed services rendered or necessitated should be discontinued. It can soon take on the ugly face of graft.

The laundry facilities should not be stinted. Seven pieces a week are not enough for one who desires to appear to be clean and the shed where the washing is done is not in my opinion a proper place. Any one desiring or compelled to do their own and family washing should be furnished with a proper place to do it and electric irons, and for that matter, electric toasters should be freely permitted. Why any human being should desire to eat toast when he can get good bread, biscuits, rolls or buns is beyond my ken, but I know from experience that many prefer it and the fact that I wouldn't abide it is entirely immaterial.

Complaint is made that while under the contract with the undertaker, soldiers and widows are buried at a fixed price of $13.50, while the soldier's wife, if one should die, is subject to a charge far in excess of that—anything that the conscience of the undertaker and the pocket of the husband will stand.

This discrimination the officers deny and claim that their contract covers all funerals and the excess charge is only made when the relatives call for a more expensive funeral. This presents an issue of fact that I have no means of settling but suggest that undertakers and their charges will always justify close inspection. In the nature of things the bereaved family do not scrutinize closely and even Probate Courts are not as watchful on this line as they should be.

While on this grave subject another has been urged upon me.

It seems that when a soldier dies leaving clothes not too "tattered" they are cleaned, renovated, disinfected and kept in the basement for reissue to surviving Comrades, which is seriously and I think, justly resented. . .

. . . 1 suggest that whenever possible this particular economy could to advantage be dispensed with; the clothes disposed of to the best advantage possible to a second hand clothes dealer. No self respecting man is willing to walk in dead men's clothes. I am not advised that any of the officers or employes avail themselves of this opportunity to get cheap clothes from the basement and I can see no good reason unless it be the dire necessities of the Home for putting this affront on the members.

It should never be forgotter that this institution is neither

(a) an "Oliver Twist Foundling Hospital"

(b) a "Do-the-Boys Hall"

(c) nor even a County Poor Farm.

but a Home furnished by the State, upon value received, for the men (their wives and widows) who in the dark days of the sixties offered their lives "that the Nation might live," to the end that in their declining years when misfortune has come to them they may appreciate that Republics are not ungrateful.

With this altogether insufficient glance at the more serious of the complaints that have been made I desire to emphasize

THE RIGHT TO COMPLAIN

In this country and in every nook and corner—except possibly the Soldiers Home—the right to suggest, criticise and complain is an inherent right and one that ought to be carefully preserved and sedulously protected.

This is a Home for deserving Human Beings—not a place where "nothing is wanted but silence and but dom'd little of that.'

On my first visit especially in the open meeting I felt an undercurrent of enforced silence with a suspicion of fear of being "put down the hill" if they spoke out too freely.

On my second visit which was entirely unannounced and unknown in advance. . . . . . I called a meeting in the Assembly Hall of members, at which no one was permitted to be present who was in any wise connected with the management of the Home . . . . . . . . . . . . . . for several hours we had quite a heart-to-heart talk and I invited suggestions, assuring them that no one but myself would ever know who had written or what any person had said, and it is fair to say that I received many communications, some of them wise—many otherwise. I have carefully considered and weighed these suggestions but no one knows who has written or what has been said unless the parties themselves "leaked."

I felt that this was absolutely necessary if I was to get the desired infor-. Most of the complaints and answers center around the shortage of funds available for the proper operation of the Home and I deem it entirely proper at this point to dwell upon a. From 1909 to 1918, inclusive, the appropriation of $16.00 per capita for each officer, employee and member: this amount was increased in 1919 to $19.00 per capita but the increase was not available until October 1, 1919.

b. In 1911 provision was made for withholding a portion of the pensions (Acts of 1911 p. 165) but these amounts were required to be paid into the Treasury and it was not until 1915 (Acts of 1915 p. 596) that they were permitted to be used by the Board. Since that time they have been subject to the order of the Board for the maintenance of the Home.

would have shrunk from $232.90 to $192.12 and this on a rising tide of prices. Who would have suffered: the officers' pay is fixed by law; employees pay is subject largely to their control and the members would have been the ones to suffer.

In connection with this matter of expense I wrote to Col. Crampton, the Commandant of the Soldiers Home at Marion and have his letter saying that the per capita expense there—not including $7.04 per capita for amusements, etc., was $361.58 for the year from July 1, 1918 to June 30, 1919. $218.67 in 1917

262.55 in 1918 at Lafayette when contrasted with $361.58 at Marion does 232.90 in 1919 not speak well for the liberality of the State as against the Nation, but does distinctly emphasize

1. The use of pensions;

2. A more liberal appropriation by the State.

In this connection it does not seem out of place for me to mention the fact that the report of the Board will show that the Home is short $23,261.68 of which there is asked from the Governor's fund $8,973.93 and unpaid bills of $13,647.68.

Of course these unfortunate members should not have been permitted to suffer more than they have, but the habit of exceeding appropriations is quite a dangerous habit to fall into and can only be excused by the insufficient I am tempted to use a stronger word—action of the General Assembly.

The report of Comrade Ketcham was approved by vote of the Encamp-

Assistant Adjutant-General Ball: "There are two Committees out yet; the Visiting Committees to the Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary and the Ladies of the G. A. R.'

Comrade Hugh Cummings: "Commander, I move you that the Rules be suspended and that we proceed to the election of a Commander."

Comrade Ketcham: "We are here to discharge a duty. We are not here to cast a vote and then desert our post. We are here to do the whole of our duty, not a part of it; not the part that will be satisfactory to us, but the whole duty that comes before this Encampment. I hear every time I come to the Encampments, some Comrade saying 'Let us select the Commander so that we may go home!' When it comes pursuant to the requirements of our duties let us stand to our post and not shirk. I am here to do my duty and want every Comrade to stay to do his duty.

Department Commander: "I believe that motion is not in order." Comrade C. C. Schreeder: "I move to lay that motion on the table." Comrade Schreeder's motion meeting with a second, the Encampment voted to table the motion.

For Delegate-at-Large, Comrades Isaac Mitchell, Post No. 85; T. C. Clapp, Post No. 209; Mahlon D. Butler, Post No. 17 and William Matthews Post No. 210, were nominated. On the first ballot there was no election; on the second ballot Comrade Mahlon D. Butler having received the largest number of votes was declared elected Delegate-at-Large; Comrade William Matthews, having received the second largest vote was declared Alternateat-Large.

The names of the twelve Comrades previously reported as nominated for Council of Administration were submitted to the Encampment and the following Comrades were selected:

COUNCIL OF ADMINISTRATION

R. H. Typer, Post No. 148, Newcastle. H. C. Durbin, Post No. 244, Anderson. Alonzo Murphy, Post No. 5. Greensburg. S. M. Hench, Post No. 40, Fort Wayne. C. C. Schreeder, Post No. 27, Evansville.

A committee of ladies from the Sons of Veterars' Auxiliary was announced and Mrs. Claudia Erther was introduced by the Department Commander. Mrs. Erther:

"Mr. Commander, Officers and Members of the Grand Army of the Republic: This is one of the proud times of my life to be able to meet with you: to see you in this wonderful assemblage. I was happy indeed because the Chairman of our committee did not appear and they put me or in tead, as I lways have wanted to come and see you.

My father was not a member of the Grand Army. He went away when I was a baby. He served during the war as a paymaster in the navy. 1 had seven uncles who went to the war; one a drummer boy in the Twelfth Inoiana, fourteen years old when he went to the service; some of you who belonged to the Twelfth will remember him as Henry Keely.

Another uncle, my mother's brother, skeps in the South ir an unknown grave. Some of my ancestors came to this country as pioneers and enlisted in the War of the Revolution.

I love the Flag—it is in my blood. I love the Grand Army of the Republic; I love to work with them. I have had the honor to work with them side by side; and Comrades, your work in the days of '61 to '65 in protection of "Old Glory" has made it possible to say-

'Your flag and my flag, and how it flies today, In your land and my land and all the world away; Rose red and blood red, its stripes forever gleam; Snow white and soul white, the good forefathers' dream.'

Mr. Commander, in the name of the Division of Indiana Sons of Veteran's Auxiliary I present you there flowers, and may the memory of their fragrance live with you when they are faded and gone."

Department Commander: "I thank you just as earnestly as I possibly I am going to take the privilege of giving some to my Comrades. thank you for coming and ask you to come again."

Mrs. Erther: "I thank you for allowing me to come."

Mrs. Dodson, from Danvine:

"Members of the Grand Army of the Republic: I consider it a great privilege to come before you and meet with you in this Grand Army session. My father was a wounded soldier, but he has passed on before and waits for the rest of you when time shall be no more.

"We are always glad to be with the soldiers and ready to help you at any time. The Sons of Veterans Auxiliary, composed of wives, daughters, sisters of the soldiers, were organized to perpetuate your work and we hope to live and in time to take over the work you have begun. We are glad to be with you this morning.'

Mrs. McKenny, of Shelbyville:

Comrades, my husband was with you five years ago, but he has been gone three years. It is sad when I look and see how many of you are here and I am alone, but I thank God he has spared as many as He has.

The Department Commander called the Comrades to their feet as the committee left the hall.

Comrade David E. Beem, Post No. 93: "Your Committee appointed to visit the Ladies Auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans bore the greetings of this Encampment. We found a body of fine looking young ladies imbued with love for their country and in full sympathy with the old soldiers who helped to save it. We were graciously received and feel sure that we have their affection and desire to help us."

Comrade S. M. Hench: "Commander, I was appointed Chairman of the Committee to be ir greetings to the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, with other Comrades who failed to appear or were not present when I sought their assistance, but at the last moment I drafted Captain Boltz, who was Captain of Co. F., Eighty-eight India a, and for many years has been an officer of the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans Home at Krightstown.

We carried your greetings to the Ladies of the G. A. R., and I assure you that it is one of the organizations that I take a great interest in. They belong to your family; to our family; and as the lady that spoke a moment ago said, it was in her bood to be a patriot. It is in your blood. The lady claimed that her blood dates back to the Revolutionary War. Let us hope that the Ladies of the G. A. R. in 1961 and 2061 will bear the message of the Grand Army of the Republic and the soldiers of the great Union Army that made this country the 'land of the free and home of the brave.'

For Department Chaplain, Comrade Henry C. Canter, Post No. 281, Indianapolis, was nominated. There being no other nominations, the Assistant Adjutant-General was instructed to cast the entire vote of the Encampment for Comrade Canter, which was done and he was declared elected Department Chaplain for the ensuing year.

The name of Comrade E. H. Cowan, Post No. 7, Crawfordsville, was placed in nomination for Department Medical Director. There being no other name presented, the Assistant Adjutant-General was instructed to cast the entire vote of the Encampment for Comrade Cowan which was done and he was declared elected.

For Senior Vice-Department Commander Comrade Charles W. Shaw, Post No. 85, Bloomington was placed in nomination. There being no other nomination, or motion of Comrade W. P. McKinsey the rules were suspended and the Assistant Adjutant-General was instructed to east the entire vote of the Encampment for Comrade Shaw, which was done and he was declared

For Department Commander the following Comrades were placed in nomination: Robert Dorste, Post No. 244, Anderson; placed in nomination by Comrade D. F. Mustard of the Eighth District.
W. P. McKinsey, Post No. 42, Lebanon, placed in nomination by the Ninth District, seconded by the Fifth District.

Robert W. McBride, Post No. 17, Indianapolis, nominated by Comrade C. Schreeder; seconded by Comrades O. A. Somers, Alonzo Murphy and William A. Ketcham.

A. M. Grant, nominated by the Second District; seconded by the Third

Frank M. Hay, placed in nomination by Comrade T. C. Clapp of the Seventh District duly seconded.

A ballot was taken, with the following result:

Comrade Hay received 13 votes. Comrade Grant received 42 votes.

Conrade Dorste received 56 votes. Comrade McKinsey received 56 votes. Comrade McBride received 102 votes.

Comrades Grant and Hay withdrew their names and a second ballot was taken, resulting as follows:

Comrade McKinsey received 57 votes. Comrade Dorste received 84 votes. Comrade McBride received 115 votes.

Comrade McKinsey withdrew his name from the contest and on the third ballot, Comrade Dorste received 102 votes and Comrade McBride 143

Comrade Daniel F. Mustard: "On behalf of Comrade Robert Dorste I move to make the election of Comrade McBride unanimous."

This was done, and Con rade Robert W. McBride was declared elected Department Commander for the ensuing year.

Assistant Adjutant-General Ball called the roll of the newly elected officers, who were installed into office by Past Commander-in-Chief O. A.

Somers, Comrade D. H. McAbee acting as Officer of the Day.

Comrade Somers: "Commander McBride, you will announce the name of your Patriotic Instructor.

Department Commander McBride: "I am not prepared to announce the names of any of my officers except the Assistant Adjutant-General.'

The Department Commander named Comrade Albert J. Ball as his Assistant-Adjutant General, and Assistant Quartermaster-General and Comrade Ball was installed into office by Comrade Somers.

Comrade Somers: "I will instruct the past commander to perform a most pleasant duty. He has in his hands a badge; a badge that has been worn by nearly every living Department Commander. It probably has been used thirty-five years, and has been borne on the breasts of the department commanders all these years; and speaking for myself, I have never had a badge on my bosom that I was so proud of. It is now to be presented to the incoming Department Commander. It has been worn with honor by all and it has been an incentive to them so to conduct themselves as to maintain the dignity and honor of the department."

Past Department Commander Medsker: "Comrade McBride, with infinite pleasure I transfer my duties to you. I know that they will be well performed. You have my sincere congratulations on your election and wishes for your success in office.

I have worn this badge, Comrades, for twelve months, I hope with honor and some little distinction; I present it to a good man."

Department Commander McBride: "Past Commander-in-Chief and Past Commander: I thank you for the things you have said, and I want to say to the Comrades, I would not exchange places to day with the Governor of the State of Indiana; I would not exchange places with the President of the United States. I esteem it a greater honor to be chosen as the Commander of the Department of Indiana than to be chosen as its governor. I shall endeavor to merit by the manner in which I conduct the affairs of this office the confidence you have shown by electing me to it.

The work of the Grand Army of the Republic is not done. We have spent many years in educating our boys in patriotism and Americanism, but we find many definitions of what constitutes Americanism and there are many things not American proposed by those who think themselves good Americans. It is our duty to continue that instruction, and I shall endeavor to aid the Department of Indiana as far as I can in carrying on the work that we have been engaged in for more than fifty years, but we can not expect to engage in it for another fifty years.

I expect you have the heart of that old veteran who when asked his age said he was seventy-five years old. "Well, you don't expect to live another seventy-five years, do you?" he was asked.

"Well, I don't know," he answered. "I am stronger now than when I started on the first seventy-five."

We are boys in spirit and we may have many years before us. We may not, but I ask you all to give me your earnest and active aid in the year now before us in carrying on the work of the Grand Army. Again, I thank

Is there any further business to come before this Encampment? If not I will proceed to close the Encampment.

I now declare the Forty-first Annual Encampment of the Department of Indiana closed."

GENERAL ORDERS No. 2

MEMORIAL DAY, MAY 30, 1919

With intense interest your Commander begs to call your especial and earnest attention to our duty in the observance of Memorial Day.

With us it is the day of days. Let us not pass it without due observance. Our allied organizations, as well as all other citizens, and especially all the school children of the entire State, should be and are hereby cordially invited to join with us in doing homage to the memory of our departed Comrades.

It should be the duty and privilege of the Comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic and the members of its allied organizations to see that the graves of soldiers of all wars, including the Revolutionary War; the War of 1812; the Indian Wars; the Mexican War; the War of the Rebellion; the Spanish-American War, and the World War just closed, should be decorated in this, our Memorial Day.

We would ask that the surviving soldiers of all wars join with us in the memorial service and assist us in decorating the graves of all soldiers.

The especial attention of the Comrades of this Department is called to General Orders, No. 8, from National Headquarters, under date of March 25, 1919, which has already been mailed to all the Posts of this Department.

This Order is entirely devoted to Memorial Day exercises and contains the Order of Past Commander-in-Chief John A. Logan, also the celebrated address of President Lincoln, at Gettysburg, Penn., when the battlefield was dedicated as a national cemetery.

Fiag Day

Saturday, June 14th, will be "Flag Day," the 142d anniversary of the adoption of "Old Glory" as the emblem of our nation.

Posts and auxiliary organizations throughout the Department should encourage the display of the flag on that day and where possible should arrange for fitting exercises to be held.

We cordially invite soldiers of all other wars to participate with us in these exercises.

By command of
William F. Medsker,
Department Commander.

Official:

Albert J. Ball, Assistant Adjutant-General.

Some adjutants and quartermasters are still writing to this office and requesting us to send blanks on which they make their semi-annual reports. To these Comrades we can only repeat what has been announced in general orders time after time. You will receive no blanks for these reports because reports are now made ANNUALLY, at the close of the year, instead of semi-annually, as formerly.

Send in your per capita at once on the same number that you reported in good standing last December. We are obliged to pay to National Head-quarters on the same number reported by us at the close of 1918 and the posts are required to pay to department headquarters on the same number reported by them at that time. - IX. General Orders No. 9 from National Headquarters will be found enclosed herewith. By reading carefully that part which refers to "Railroad Rates and Transportation," paragraphs XXVII to XXXIV, the posts may be fully informed on many points concerning transportation to the National Encampment, thus avoiding unnecessary correspondence in regard to it.

GENERAL ORDERS No. 6.

I. The Department Commander congratulates the comrades of this Department on the splendid representation made at the Fifty-third National Encampment at Columbus, Ohio, September 7–12, 1919. Our regularly elected delegates were all present, many of the alternates, and fourteen of our surviving Past Department Commander. More than 800 comrades registered at our headquarters and marched with us in parade. The Committee in charge of the encampment and the citizens of Columbus, Ohio, did everything that could possibly have been done to entertain the veterans and make their stay a pleasant one, and that their efforts were successful is evinced by the expressions of appreciation heard from practically every one who attended.

CHRISTMAS FUND

The time for the contributions to the Christmas Fund for the children of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home is drawing near. The membership of the Home is no longer composed entirely of descendants of the soldiers of the War of the Rebellion, the Spanish-American War and the late World War both being represented there at this time. While other organizations will no doubt contribute very liberally, the cost of presents at this time being much higher than formerly, donations will be appreciated and Posts or comrades desiring to assist should forward their contributions to Albert J. Ball, A. Q. M. G., Room 25, State House, who will turn the total amount received over to the purchasing committee and due credit will be given the donors in his report to the Encampment of 1920. # IN MEMORIAM

We regret to announce that Comrade James D. Bell, who was elected Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at Columbus, Ohio, on September 12, 1919, died at Brooklyn, New York, November 1, 1919, after a brief illness.

Comrade Charles H. Myerhoff died at his home in Evansville, Indiana, October 24,1919.

Comrade Myerhoff enlisted June 7, 1861, in Co. E, Fourteenth Indiana Infantry as corporal and was discharged June 24, 1864, as first lieutenant, having gained a reputation for courage and daring. The Fourteenth regiment first saw service in West Virginia, and afterward with the Army of the Potomac. This regiment was engaged in all of the battles in which the Army of the Potomac participated u to the time of its discharge in June, 1864.

Comrade Meyerhoff was one of the most active members of Farragut Post, at Evansville. In 1900 he was appointed Department Inspector and in 1914 was elected Junior Vice-Commander of the Department. In his death the comrades of his post and of the department have sustained a great

GENERAL ORDERS No. 7.

- I. The Forty-first Annual Encampment of the Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic, will be held at Bloomington, Indiana, May 25, 26 and 27, 1920. Headquarters of various organizations and halls for holding business sessions will be announced in later orders.
- II. The Department of Indiana G. A. R. takes pleasure in extending the "glad hand" and congratulations to the members of the American Legion and the World War Veterans, as patriotic and noble orders, and trusts that the relations between the three grand orders may always be pleasant.

May the motto of all be "One Hundred Per Cent Americanism and Patriotism."

- III. In our previous orders we failed to note the election of our esteemed Department Medical Director, Comrade Stephen I. Brown, as Surgeon-General of the National Department. Comrade Brown has served for many years as Medical Director of this department and his election to the higher position of Surgeon-General was very gratifying to the department.
- IV. In making up our Roll Call for the coming encampment we find that many of the Post Adjutants have failed to give the names of Past Post Commanders now in good standing, who would be entitled to representation at the encampment; others have failed to send in the names of the elected delegates. This will cause confusion in the distribution of delegate badges, and those who have failed to fill out their reports correctly should at once send in a correct list of all who are entitled to sit in the business sessions of the encampment.
- V. Posts desiring to contribute to the Southern Memorial Fund for defraying the expenses of decorating the graves of comrades of the Civil War who are buried in the South, should send their contributions to Albert J. Ball, A. Q. M. G., who will forward the same to the quarter-master-general.
- VI. On account of extensive alterations and repairs that have been made at the State House within the past year it has been necessary to change the office numbers. Please note that the number of this office has been changed from 25 to 225, although up to the present time the location of the office is not changed.
- VII. General Orders from National Headquarters will be found enclosed with these orders.

WILLIAM F. MEDSKER,
Department Commander.

Comrade Alexander P. Asbury died January 25, 1920, at the home of his daughter in Eagle, Idaho, aged 73 years.

Comrade Asbury was a recruit in Company H, Eighty-fifth Indiana Volunteers, and served in that regiment until his discharge when he was transferred to the Thirty-third Indiana Volunteers regiment, being finally discharged with that regiment July 1st, 1865. His service was all in the Army of the Cumberland.

He was a member of Gaskins Post No. 564, Farmersburg, Indiana, and was elected Commander of the Department of Indiana in May, 1910.

Comrade Milton Garrigus enlisted in Company D, Thirty-ninth Indiana Volunteers, (Eighth Cavalry) as a private, his service in this regiment being for a period of three years. He was adjutant of the One Hundred Thirty-seventh Indiana, this being a hundred day regiment; and was captain of Co. I, One Hundred Forty-second Indiana Volunteers, from November, 1864, until July, 1865, when he was finally discharged. His services were all in the Army of the Ohio and the Army of the Cumberland.

Comrade Garrigus was a member of Thos. J. Harrison Post No. 30, Kokomo, Indiana, and was elected Commander of the Department in 1902. He died at Kokomo January 25, 1920, aged 88 years.

Comrade John R. Fesler was born in Muskingum County, Ohio, November 16, 1835, and died at Indianapolis, Indiana, February 19, 1920, at the age of 84 years.

Comrade Fesler enlisted August 30, 1861, and was mustered as Captain of Co. G, Twenty-seventh Indiana Volunteers, on September 12, 1861. He was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel January 12, 1863. He never missed an engagement in which his regiment participated and commanded his regiment at various times, being in command at the Battle of Gettysburg. He was mustered out of service November 4, 1864, at the expiration of his term of enlistment.

In 1906 he was appointed Assistant Adjutant-General and Assistant Quartermaster-General of the Department of Indiana and held this position until November 15, 1918, when he resigned on account of ill health. He still held the position of president of the Board of Trustees of the State Soldiers' Home at Lafayette, Indiana, at the time of his death.

MEMORIAL DAY

Your Commander-in-Chief has designated Sunday, May 23rd, as Memo-The Comrades and members of the allied and associate orders will assemble at their respective churches for worship on this day, and bear in mind that the services should be of such a character as to induce the younger people to take up the work of the diffusion of the principles of fraternity, charity and loyalty.

Your Department Commander directs that Sunday, May 30th, be observed as Memorial Day, for decorating the graves of our dead. This day, above all others, is held sacred by the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, and it is to be regretted that it is not more generally and fittingly observed by the general public.

It is a duty we owe to the memory of our deceased Comrades. A sad duty, it is true, nevertheless it should be performed. Every recurring May 30th, I trust may become, if possible, to every member of the Grand Army of the Republic, more sacred. Let it, my Comrades, be observed with increasing earnestness and sacredness and in true patriotism and fraternal love.

By command of
WILLIAM F. MEDSKER,
Department Commander.

Albert J. Ball, Assistant Adjutant-General.
